> NEW ORLEANS, March 2.— By the Associated Press.] The much-talked-of Fitzsimmons-Maher match is over, and Fitz is winner, the Irishman having given up the fight after twelve rounds, a badly-punished man.
> Tonight's entertainment at the Olympic Club was one of the greatest pugl-listic exhibitions ever occurring in one club on the same night. Frank Slavin and Felix Vaquelin, Charley Mitchell and Arthur Upham, and Peter Maher, the champion of Ireland, and Robert the champion of Ireland, and Robert Fitzsimmons, the middle-weight champion of the world, were the attractions. Prof. John Duffy was selected as referee. Fully 5000 persons were present and it was a magnificent gathering. There were sporting men from Enland, Ireland and from every corner of the United States. Chicago and New York, between them, had fully 500 delegates, while New Orleans supplied its leading merchants and professional men. Of course the Fitzsimmons-Maher fight was the event. Maher fight was the event.

FITZ IN FINE FORM. Today has been entirely devoted to prize-fighters to the exclusion of even prize-fighters to the exclusion of even interest in the carnival. Betting has been free and rumors flew thick and fast. Fitzsimmons came in on the early train this morning, his fine condition being apparent to every one who saw him. He refrained from talking about the fight. Fitzsimmons is over six feet tall, and when he trained for Dempsey, getting down to 154 pounds, he was so thin that he seemed to break into pieces. This time, however, without any weight limit, he has trained up instead of down, and grown as stout as a man of his build can be imagined to be. His broad shoulders and chest are massed with muscles, and his long arms and legs have actually graceful lines to them. His face, too, is round and rosy. He weighed tonight very nearly 170 pounds. After he walked and talked through the crowd in the morning, his friends obtained renewed confidence, and many bets were placed on him at even money. In the Paris mytuals a and many bets were placed on him at even money. In the Paris mutuals a majority of the bets issued bore the name of Fitzsimmons.

Maher was also in great form. Al-though not as tall as Fitzsimmons he BONDS FOR SALE—STREET IMPROVE-eat 8 per cent, per annum; for sale in sums to suit; first liens upon improved properties; amplie security. H. A. PALMER, 41 Baker Bix looked stronger. His chest and shoul-ders, especially the latter, were of true ders, especially the latter, were of true heavy-weight proportions, and driving power was expressed all over them. His arms, although long, were heavily muscled and big and broad of bone. From the way the Irishman spoke and acted during the day he was evidently very confident, although not in a happy mood. There is a good deal of viciousness in his disposition and it cropped out continually. He thought that Siavin and Mitchell and all the big pugilists were anxious to have him whipped, despite their sweet words to the contrary. One thing made him feel badly. He objected strennously to fighting on Ash Wednesday, and used every effort to secure some other date, but without success. His superstition increased his viciousness, and he also expressed annoyance this evening because he forgot to go to church this morning. morning. THE BETTING. Many big bets were made this after-noon. The Garfield track syndicate of Chicago, including Varnell, Condon and others, placed upward of $12,000 on Fitzsimmons. George Clark of Chicago put $6000, Jerry Daly $2500 and D. H. Ormsby $3500 on Fitz. On Maher Charley Johnson placed $4200, Jim Adams of New York $8800, Billy Madden and Steve Brodie $1000 each.

PRELIMINARY BOXING BOUTS. Charley Mitchell and Arthur Upham who were to box four rounds, entered the ring at 8:20 o'clock. Upham looked very pale and Mitchell made a holy show of him in the first round, his superiority being very evident. Upham was very weak as he came up for the second round and the bout was all in Slavin and Vaquelin then took their places for a four-round bout. Vaquelin presented a splendid physique, but was about as pale as Upham. Slavin's superiority to his opponent was not so great as that of Mitchell over Upham. DOINDEXTER & LIST, BROKERS, 127 great as that of Mitchell over Upham. They gave an interesting exhibition, and Slavin's cleverness was much admired. The improvement in Vaqueiin since his training with Fitz was at once marked. The bout was a vigorous punching match throughout.

Then Slavin and Mitchell had a set-to. The first round was marked by a vigorous exchange of blows, and the second one was lively. In the fourth, and last, both men appeared cautions, but when they got warmed up rapped each others' faces and stomachs in a way that delighted the audience, and Mitchell lioked somewhat vexed when the referere separated them and sent them away.

Then came the event of the night A short time before the men appeared an Associated Press representative called on them. Maher said he weighed in 76 pounds, and felt in splendid condition. Fitzsimmons appeared in superboondition, but would not talk about the ordition, but would not talk about the fight.

The men entered the ring at 9 o'clock. Maher was dressed in black trousers, black stockings and shoes. Gas Tuthill, Billy Madden and Jack Failon were his seconds. Fitz entered a moment later, wearing a scarlet breechcloth, with black fighting shoes and black stockings. The official weights announced were: Fitzsimmons, 165; Maher, 178. Time was called at 9:15 POINTS OF THE MORNING'S NEWS.

First round—Fitzsimmons opened the ball by feinting at Maher, and the lat-ter made two left leads for his face, Fitz countering him on the eye. Maher led with his left, but missed, and then Fitz jabbed his left into Maher's nose, Fitz jabbed his left into Maher's nose, following it with a knock-down blow with his right under the jaw, again landing his left on the nose. On getting up, Maher received staggering right and left blows, but as time was called he knocked Fitz down. Fourth round—Maher was still bleeding from the mouth and Fitz aimed for that bloody spot, striking the nose instead, and avoiding severe blows aimed at his body. Several blows, both on nose and head, were exchanged, when Maher landed a heavy heart punch with his right, receiving in return a staggerer on his sore mouth from Fitz's left. Sixth round—Maher tried with his left and Fitz ran away, afterwards receiving a left upper cut as he ran away a second time. In ducking to avoid punishment, Fitzsimmons again received a left upper cut. Fitz played continually for his opponent's bloody mouth, frequently pushing the latter's head back with a straight left. After staggering Maher with a heavy right on the jaw Fitz was in turn staggered by a left on his own jaw, time being called just as a heavy left drive landed on Maher's hose. Eighth round—Clever dodging by Fitz prevented Maher from landing several severe blows. Maher landed lightly on the stomach with his left, receiving right and left on the head. The men clinched. Fitz sent his left repeatedly into Maher's mouth, nearly knocking him down with a left on the nose. A repetition of the blow was avoided by Maher's clever duck. Maher wasted a great deal of strength by missing frequent blows. Fitz was very happy during the round, chatting and laughing with his opponent between his blows on Maher's sore mouth. The round closed with Fitzsimmons looking really like a winner.

Tenth round—After missing with right and left, Maher landed a heavy right on the jaw, receiving a left on the nose, followed by one on the mouth. Both were cautious. Fitz feinted and then avoided Maher's right, hitting him in the sore mouth. A similar blow was given, but this time Fltz received a stinging right on the back of the head. Fitz staggered his opponent with a Fitz staggered his opponent with a heavy left, following up his advantage with another one on the mouth as time was called.

Twelfth round—Fitz opened the battle by shooting his left into his opponent's mouth, causing it again to bleed profusely. Fitz now took his time, occasionally sending Maher's head back with a heavy left on the sore mouth, avoiding punishment by slipping away. Maher played groggy to draw Fitz on, but the latter was cautious, only striking when he could hit that sore mouth. Maher staggered, went to his corner, and gave up the battle.

Fitzsimmons offered a flask to his opponent, took a pull at it himself, and then shook hands with Maher, congratulating him on his game fight. Fitzsimmons received deafening cheers, all agreeing that it was a good and fair fight. The spectators seemed to think that, considering the superior science and generalship of the Australian, the best thing Maher could do was give up when he did. Twelfth round-Fitz opened the bat-

Maher remained in the ring some time after the battle was over, while his seconds washed the blood from his face. When he reached his room he put on his when he reached his room he put on his clothes and stuffed a moist handkerchief into his mouth to staunch the flow of blood. Madden, Tuthill and others with him were much cast down: "I have little to say," Maher replied to an inquiry, "except that Fitzsimmons is too clever for me. He is a very skillful man in getting away. I had him out in the first round, but the bell prevented me from finishing him."

"Maher broke a blood vessel and the blood choked him." said Billy Madden. "He could not go further because he was unable to breathe. He is whipped and we are sorry for it. We have no fault to find with the contest."

ment in Pittsburgh than any similar fight in years. Maher was the favorite and it is estimated that his supporters in this city lost $20,000 by his defeat. NEW YORK, March 2.—Betting on the Maier-Fitzsimmons fight was remark-ably slow, compared with the amount of talk that had been indulged in about the contest. About every dollar wagered on the result in this city was at even money. Maher had the odds when there were any.

New York, March 2.—[By the Associated Press.] The Herald's special from Valparaiso says: "Ministers Pereira and Blanco Viel have resigned from the cabinet and Carlos Walker Martinez has retired from the Council of State. All three members of the Conservative party have likewise left the council. It is generally believed that other members of the cabinet will likewise surrender their portfolios. A coalition ministry it would seem, under the present Liberal régime, canuot attain any solidity. It is said that the cause of the resignations was the dis-satisfaction with the proposals of Finance Minister Valdes Vergara to re-habilitate Chile's finances and raise her

BRONCHITIS.

BRONCHITIS.

Bronchitis san inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of the pulmonary affections. Chronic bronchitis more often appears later in life. When a cold settles on the lungs the disease either ends in bronchitis or pneumonia. If it ends in bronchitis to pneumonia is encapable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experiences a shortness of breath with more or less warmth in the palms of the hands. Soon after this a cough appears, accom alied by an expectoration of thick mucous, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength, and night sweats continue, when the patient assumes all the appearance of having a genuine case of consumption. But this is simply catavrh of the lungs or chronic bronchitis.

The patient usually dies from exhaustion and suffocation, being unable to expectorate the mucous which accumulates in the passage leading to the lungs, which, in some cases, is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish green.

Dry Bronchitis—This disease, the very opposite of the above, is a very common affection. Very many people who regard themselves as quite healthy, are today under its induence, and are slowly but surely becomplaint. This is the most insidious of all pulmonary diseases. There may be at first a slight, hacking cough and an expectoration a bluish white mucous. And herein lies had camper. This mucous. Inhabiting the all of the lungs, being dimult to raise, after a time becomes solidhed, permanently obstructing portions of the lungs, causing shortness for the lungs being dimult to raise, after a time becomes were and comes on in increases it almost the abortness of breath increases it almost the abortness of breath the cough become more sand membrane also

ADIRONDACK DEER.

The Wonderful Judgment and Alertnes of an Old Buck

[Forest and Stream.]
In some respects deer are very cunning, in others they are wanting in that degree of animal intelligence which would protect them from harm under most circumstances. When their trail is followed, and one is at rest, it will al-fers the penalty. During the mating season, however, when nobody cares for the flesh of a buck, he becomes half idiotic and risks his life in the most reckless manner.

Deer are of a very domestic nature. They can scarcely be driven permanently from the homes of their selection, not even by dogs. Their greatest enemy is the panther, and where panthers are the most plentiful the most deer are to be found. Nothing will startle them more than the scream of a panther. It is surprising that many fawns escape these beasts, for they are utterly without protection further than that which their weak and slender legs supply. It is a curious fact that

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Water Companies Overhauled.

Los Angeles, March 2.—[To the Editor of The Times.] I have read with pleasure a great many of your editorials on the water question of this city and in all of them I see you come out very plain, and your motto in all of them appears to be for good water at a fair price. But on the other hand, the motto of the water companies of this city seems to be bad water and an outrageous price and isconvenience at that. Now, having lived in various cities in the outrageous price and inconvenience at that.

Now, having lived in various cities in the United States, and as a user of water in large quantities in my business, I have looked on this water question, so far as it relates to this city, and I think we are far behind our sister cities in various parts of the Union. The price and terms of water are well known to all those interested in it in this city. Now, for the benefit of the water users of this city I wish to say a few words in regard to four other cities I have lived in, and in four different States.

First, I will take Philadelphia. The charge is $5 a year for one faucet. You can use all you want. Providence, R. I., is the same. Camden, N. J., is cheaper, for you have two faucets for that amount. $5 per year. And I will here state the price charged to a certain works there in Camden in 1884 and 1885. To my knowledge a zinc pipe service was only $1.25 per year, and said works would use over 100,000 gallons per day.

Fall River, Mass., has a water works, and a zinc pipe service was only $125 per year, and said works would use over 100,000 gallons per day.

Fail River, Mass., has a water works, and their charge is $5 per year for one faucet. If you have a four or six tenement block you can put in a meter which costs you $15, and if you use anything under 30,000 gallons per year the price is $10. Over that amount you are charged for.

Now the city of Fail River had, four years ago, a bonded debt on its water works of $1700, but still it pays them, and, better still, the water rent is far less than here in Los Angeles; and what is still better, it is water, not water and other stuff, as here. Now there is another fact, Mr. Editor, I wish to draw your attention to, and that is this: If you wish to connect and use water from the city of Fail River all you have to do is to either drop them a postal or go and inform them that you wish to use their water. They send the city plumber and he takes his tools and taps the main and puts in a pipe and brings it to the sidewalk and puts on a plug-tap, and you then make a connection to said plug. You pay nothing to the water company for putting in said plug; that is their property. But when you want the water you pay your $5 in advance before it is turned on.

Now look at the difference between Longeles and the Fail River Angeles water companies on the between Longeles water companies and the Fail River

Now look at the difference between Los Angeles water companies and the Fall River water company, both in price and also in the water. All the water companies above angeles water companes and the Fall Miver water company, both in price and also in the water. All the water companies above mentioned have to pump every drop of water by steam power. The water companies of Los Angeles complain that they are not making any money, as their plants cost them so much. I, for one, cannot see it in that light, for only take, for instance, 25,000 water users in this city, and we will average them at $2 per month. We have $50,000 per month (more than we pay for milk.) But that is not all; they are not satisfied with that, for every water user in this city must pay a bonus to the company of $12.50 before he can enter the main, and, furthermore, he is compsiled to buy both pipe and tap or plug and pay for the same out of his own pocket before he can use one drop of water. And that is not the worst of it either, Mr. Editor, for if a man don't come to time in his payments, and in advance at that, the company sends its servant to cut off his water and make him pay $2 before he can have it turned on again. Now, sir, if that is not 'gail' I would like to know what is. For a man to put in and pay for a plug and pipe and the company come whenever the payment is missed and use that man's property to stop their water! I say, Mr. Editor, the water companies of this city have no more right to use the plug a man has paid for to turn off the water with than they have to come and use your horse to carry supplies with. They are trespassing and could be sued and held for damages before any justice or any jury in the land. I maintain that the money the companies of this city have received from the water users for the privilege to enter their water users for the privilege to enter their water water and the same and the companies of this city have received from the water users for the privilege to enter their ing and could be sued and held for damages before any justice or any jury in the land. I maintain that the money the companies of this city have received from the water users for the privilege to enter their mains has almost paid for every foot of pipe they have put down, and I hope our City Council will not overlook that fact when the time comes for the city to purchase the water works; for the permits granted and paid for to the water company on the above basis would amount to over $300,000, for which the water companies of this city have not given I cent in return; and, on the other hand, they come and have the gail to use another man's property to their own end and purpose.

I say let all the property holders look at the above facts. I think they have stood it long enough, and if the water companies want to shut off the water make them use their own tools to do it with, or otherwise pay the owner of said tap $2 every time they use it; that is, $2 for the use to turn off the water and $2 to turn on the water. Then the property owners will have a chance to get back from the water companies a little of their ill-gotten gains, and thus be made to take a dose of the galling medicine they have so freely dealt out to others. Yours respectfully,

TUESDAY'S TRAGEDY.

Result of the Coroner's Inquest

The Identity of the Ill-fated Couple Fully Established.

The Cause of the Trouble Between Them in San Francisco.

Avok Repeatedly Declared His Intention of Killipg the Girl, Who Was Mur-dered in a Spirit of

At 2:80 o'clock yesterday afternoon Coroner Weldon held an inquest on Henry Avok and Hazel Leighton, the victims of Tuesday's terrible tragedy.

The first witness, C. Bruen, stated that he is a tailor, and he knows Avok, is followed, and one is at rest, it will always be "looking backward." They have been known to double their trail to confuse a hunter. Their sense of smell is keen, and when to the leeward of a person they will detect him when a long way off and speedily make their escape. They are also keen of sight, but do not seem always to have understanding. Motion seems to be their principal warning of danger. Any woodsman knows how easily you can drift in a boat very close to them, if you remain motionless. So in the night time they seem dazed by the light of the night hunter and will suffer him to approach very near, often within a boat's length and even closer. When a deer is run by dogs, the hounds and deer may pass very near to one standing by and that Henry Avok is his true name. He worked with him in San Francisco He saw him Tuesday last at 1 or 1:80 He came to the shop where witness was working, and said he had just arrived from San Francisco. Avok produced a photograph of the dead girl, and said if he could find her he would shoot her. He simply said: I meet this young lady I will shoot her." Witness identified the photograph of the girl which was taken from Avok's pocket. Avok was in the shop only five pocket. Avok was in the shop only five minutes and gave witness a novel [which was produced.] He was about 24 years of age. He did not say that he knew whether the girl was in this city or not. He was a tailor by trade, and never drank nor smoked. His only vice was going around houses of ill-fame, but he was not a "mac" or gambler. He was not married, nor did he ever live with any woman, so far as witness knew. Witness also worked with him in Santa Barbara about a year ago. Witness works in the Wilson Block, room 24. may pass very near to one standing by the course they are running, and it will stand perfectly still and witness the race. They will visit the same place almost daily for food and water, thus almost daily for food and water, thus exposing themselves as no other animal that I think of will do. But wisdom increases with age; these statements apply more particularly to deer less than 5 or 6 years of age. An "old buck" is a most difficult object to kill. Experience has taught him that the chances are against him and he will contribute little or nothing in aid of his own destruction. He is familiar with every device and trick of the hunter, and only seldom is it that his judgment is at fault and he suffers the penalty. During the mating Charles L. Schields was in the vicin-

Charles L. Schields was in the vicinity of the house when the murder and suicide took place. He heard a woman scream, and he ran across the street but did not see the woman until she fell from the awning to the street. He heard some one say she was shot, and he immediately turned and entered the door leading to the house where the shooting took place. He saw a woman at the head of the stairs and she said: "He is up here yet." Thinking the man might escape he called in some one to help him catch the man, when the woman upstairs said, "He is dead," and witness went back to his work.

August Bayer testified that he is a tailor, and he saw Avok at his shop Tuesday afternoon. Witness knew him about a year ago when he came here from Ventura, and remained here a day or two. Avok showed witness a picture of the girl, but said nothing about her.

M. P. Larsen of No. 1081 Denver avenue testified that he knew Avok a year ago in Ventura. He is an American and 23 or 24 years of age. He came here from San Francisco on Tuesday and visited witness at his shop and day and visited witness at his shop and said he did not know whether he would remain here or not, but that he was not going back to San Francisco. He seemed to be excited and in a hurry to must watch his opportunity to spring upon his victim. The liquid which cozes from the little opening just above the hoofs of the hind legs gives the scent which so often leads to their destruction. It is commonly approped that this scent was given to destrict enable them to seek the whereabouts of each other; but this supposition was long ago proven untrue. The purpose of it seems to be no better understood than are the functions of the spleen in seemed to be leave.

Frank Lightheizen, who came to this city with Avok last Tuesday, said the dead man seemed to be troubled about something and kept to himself all the sometring and kept to nimeel all the way down.

Ethel Wilson testified that she is the landlady of the house where the tragedy took place. Hazel Leighton, the dead girl, came to this cily from San Francisco on the 9th of last month. Ayok called at the house a little after of it seems to be no better understood than are the functions of the spleen in human beings. The agility of this animal is wonderful. With a foreleg broken a deer will outrun a dog, and is almost equally agile with a hind leg disabled. This fact gives some idea of how nimble they may be when not disabled. I have heard guides declare funon their honor? that they have Avok called at the holes a little after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. When Hazel met Avok they seemed to be on good terms. She called him Frank and he called her Annie. The dead girl was in the room all the time except a abled. I have heard guides declare "upon their honor" that they have known of deer jumping thirty feet into the air, and making leaps covering fifty feet of ground, but I am strongly inclined to discredit such statements. No thicket seems to offer any obstruction to their passage; they will scramble over floating logs in water so deep that their feet cannot touch the bottom, with amazing speed. The greatest and almost only hindrance to their speed is a crust upon snow through which their small hoofs break and make them easy prey to panthers. few minutes, when she came out to see the physician. The shooting took place at about 4 o'clock, an hour after Hazel cam out to see the physician. Witness heard Hazel singing in the room and then four or five shots were fired. She called Officer Goodman and he broke Hazel's door and found Avok dead on the floor. Hazel was about 21 years of age and told witness that she was a na-tive of Chicago. Witness first knew her in Salt Lake. Witness and Hazel talked over Hazel's troubles with Avok talked ever Hazel's troubles with Avok, and witness wanted her to leave San Francisco, but she said at first that she had had a man arrested and could not come down. She said she had been living with Avok and gave him $400 to put in the bank for her, but he deposited it in his name, and when she asked him to have it changed to her credit they handsome than a fawn? What is more innocent? Many times I have come upon one of them in the spring or early summer while passing through the woods or fishing along the banks of a stream. So tame and gentle were they that they seemed inclined to make my acquaintance. They are beautiful animals, their spotted coats being more interesting than that which Joseph wore. his name, and when she asked him to have it changed to her credit they quarreled, and he drew the money out but would not give it to her, and she talked him into buying her some diamond ear-rings and a ring. One evening she placed the ring on the washstand, when he came in and took the ring. She had him arrested and he was put under $2000 bond. Witness told her he would get a lawyer down here to attend to the case if she would come down. Hazel told witness that Avok, or the man she had trouble with, told her he would kill her as soon as he got The Two-horned Rhinoceros Givena Big Horn of Whisky and Quinine. sons has long been conceded. Now the malady has made its appearance among her he would kill her as soon as he got out of jail. Hazel never mentioned nagerie. The first to be taken ill is the valuable two-horned rhinoceros. It was feared on Thursday that all was not well with the beast. She took little interest in what was going on around her, forgetting to notice how Mrs. Hyena, who is her next-door neighbor, was getting on with her lately born triplets, and even turning away from the proffored peanut. On Friday Superintendent Conklin was sure it was the grip. The rhinoceros was sneezing frequently, had fits of coughing, and was evidently suffering from chills. When so valuable an animal as the rhinoceros, worth some thousands of dollars, is ill herole measures must be taken to save her life. Dr. Conklin was equal to the occasion and sent out for a quart of the nagerie. The first to be taken ill is the Avok's name, but witness believes he is the man. the man.

Dr. James J. Choate testified that he was at Ethel Wilson's house just before the shooting, but knew nothing about the trouble. Witness made a postmortem on the body of the dead girl, and he judged she is 28 or 24 years of age. He found a bullet hole in the left threast. The bullet penetrated the border of the upper lobe of the left lung, and passed down through the left auricle of the heart. The bullet ledged in the pleura back of the right lung. The wound would have killed her within five or ten minutes. Witness also examined Avok's body and found no external bruises except a bullet hole in the right side of the head. The bullet entered the skull just back of the ear and ranged upward into the brain, and death must have been instantaneous. There were no bruises on either body to indicate that there had been a struggle. Dottje Wentworth stated that she lives in Miss Wilson's house and was present when the shooting took place. Witness told how Avok called at the house and locked himself and Hazel up in her room. Witness was in the room.next to Hazel's and heard them talking, but there was no quarreling. George Stoppel told how he was near the house, and after hearing the shots he saw a woman jump out of a window and fall to the street.

E. M. Oppenheimer testified that he knew the dead girl in Butte, Mont., in 1890 and she was known as Annie Brink, and this is probably the name Avok knew her by, as the initials on the photograph he had are A. F. B.

Z. G. Peck, an attorney, testified two weeks ago Ethel Wilson called at his office. She was accompanied by Norma Leighton, the dead girl, who told witness that a man named A. C. Young stole a ring from her in San Francisco, and that he had been partially tried for the theft. She wanted witness to write to San Francisco and received a reply to the effect that the man Young had been held for grand ceived a reply to the effect that the man Young had been held for grand larceny to appear before the Superior Court and that the ring is now in the possession of the police department of San Francisco.

The jury found a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

All yesterday morning the vicinity of the morgue, at Orr & Sutch's on Spring street, was crowded, and it is estimated that during the day at least 3000 peo-ple called to view the bodies of the murdered girl, Hazel Leighton, and Henry Avok, the murderer and suicide.

ustralian Birds Waten are Dangerously Handy With Their Legs [San Francisco Chronicle.]

Dr. E. Usher of London, fellow of the Royal Geographical Society and a sportsman of note, who has been in Arabia and other remote parts of the globe hunting for big game, has arrived here from North Queensland and the desert region known as the north territory in Australia. This is an enormous stretch of country, thousandsof miles in area, infested by cannibals, in which are giant emus, nombat and wallaby. It was to hunt the emu that Dr. Usher and his trip there. "A party of us went up in that far north region," he said last night. "We were among the cannibals, who are great in size, being six and one-half feet high and physically perfect. It is a dry sandy region for the most part. Emus in large numbers are to be found over this territory. We hunted them on horseback, and it was rare sport, for the reason that they can run as fast as a berse, and a very good one at that. We found the catching of emus almost as interesting as coursing, emus almost as interesting as coursing, besides having a certain spice of danger about it. An emu can kick as hard as a horse. I have seen men kicked so hard by this vicious bird that their legs were broken. If I had my choice of being kicked by a horse or an emu I think I would take the horse. The emu stands on one leg and with the other strikes a quick and most paralyzing-blow. Inever would have believed that a bird had such power had I not had ocular evidence of during this trip. After two or three of our men had suffered from the terrible kicks of these birds we did not venture near them, birds we did not venture near them, but after running our horses till we got close enough would bring them down with our rifles. We did not approach them till we knew they were dead. We killed them for their feathers, although they are not so valuable as those of the ostrich. We also hunted for their eggs, which are to be found in the sand, which are to be found in the sand, but in doing this we took care not to collide with the emu. The eggs are more in demard than the feathers. They are very beautiful and are so tough that it is difficult to break them. Professional curio-makers drill a hole in each end, take the inside-out and then the shell is carved and mounted in silver. There carved and mounted in silver. There are three layers of the shell and the car ving is done so as to show three colors.
The silver is set in the first layer, so thick is it, and when it is carved and ornamented by the silver is handsome."

Hair from remotest ages and among all nations has occupied a certain amount of prominence, embracing all peared at the present day, as exempli-fled in the cherished scalp-lock of the American Indian, the pig-tail of the Celestial, the bangs and frizzes of the fashionable dame and the sacred topknot of the Siamese.

The development of the beard has been a matter of no small importance, and the cropping of Louis VII's chin brought on three centuries of bloodshed. Pedro IV of Aragon (1851) found him-self compelled to prohibit his Catalon-ian subjects from wearing false beards, but the most singular substitute was the golden beards worn by the kings of Persia. The kings of France of the first dynasty wore beards entwined with gold threads.

The custom of shaving the beard was enforced by Alexander of Macedon, not for the sake of fashion, but for a practical end. He knew that the solpractical end. He knew that the soldiers of India, when they encountered their foes, had the habit of grasping them by the beard, and so he ordered his soldiers to shave. Afterward shaving was practiced in the Macedonian army. The Romans imitated the Greeks in this practice, as they did in many other things, and spread it to the different European nations yet harbaric ent European nations yet barbaric. In the middle ages, at the time of the Renaissance, shaving was introduced and the habit retained, though classic-ism gave place to romanticism, and that was replaced by realism. The beard was a source of trouble to Peter the Great, who, simultaneously with the introduction of his great reforms in Russia, tried to induce his people to imi-tate the shaving nations. This innovatate the shaving nations. This innova-tion was resisted by his subjects and they preferred to pay a heavy fine rather than suffer disfigurement, as they believed, of the image of God. To the Russians of olden times the beard was a symbol of liberty.

From the evidence it seems that Thomas bought a gold watch on the installment plan from Gilbert Smith. He stallment pian from Gilbert Smith. He agreed to pay $40 for the watch, and had made several payments, when he pawned it at Mrs. Ferner's pawnshop. As soon as the owner of the watch learned that it had been pawned he demanded the return of the watch or its value. Thomas could not comply with the request and he was arrested.

The evidence was strong against him

The evidence was strong against him and he will probably be convicted this morning.

A public road will soon be constructed from the Los Posas to Bardsdale and Fillmore, by way of Grimes Cañon. This will open up facilities for easier and more direct communication between two important sections of our county.—

AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT. AT THE OPERAHOUSE - The Mounte-

THE devotion of one wing of the Democratic party to Cleveland is now cavalierly mentioned as "stuffedprophet idolatry."

THE public discussion of the water question on its merits is what is needed now. All plans offered should be im partially reviewed. No plan that will not bear open discussion is entitled to confidence.

SAN BERNARDINO claims to be growing the most rapidly of any city in the State and wants a Board of Trade. It's well to get the board, but our advice is not to think of an annex. Annexes are so-well, so "hifalutin."

Gov. McKinley takes as bright a view of Republican prospects as Mr. Blaine does. He predicts that "this will be a Republican year, and that the old-time Republican majorities will be rolled up in the elections in November." The picayune Congress and the squabbling friends of Grover Cleveland and David Bennett Hill are doing all they can to justify the Major's prophecy.

OLIVER CURTIS PERRY, the desperate dude who robbed an express car and ran away with an engine on the New York Central, is described as a slight dapper fellow, with a girlish voice slim, white hands, which he is particu lar about keeping clean, and always wears gloves. He is doing his little best to redeem the race of dudes from the general charge of no-accountness.

THE people of Mississippi are talking about making the birthday of Jefferson Davis a legal holiday. Of course they are at liberty to establish any holidays they choose, but there are a good many people south of Mason and Dixon's line who will question the good taste or real devotion of such a proceeding. All the saints' calendar of holidays wouldn't make Jeff Davis a hero either in North ern or Southern estimation.

An Eastern exchange submits this conundrum to the people of the United States: "If a Democratic House of Representatives, with a majority of two-thirds, can run nearly three months at an expense of over $700,000, without doing anything, how much can it expend and how little can it accomplish in the course of two years?" The prob-lem is one to be studied out before casting your vote for the continuation of the Democratic party in power in the House of Representatives.

In a jawing match between Secretary Blaine on the one hand and Mama Nevins and her charming daughter on the other, the Secretary will stand no chance. He had better quit where he is and call it a bad job. The public has already absorbed some ideas as to that match between the callow James G., Jr., (aged 17) and the gentle Mary Nevins (aged 21.) It was undoubtedly managed and mismanaged without Papa and Mama Blaine having much hand in it, and the sooner the subject is dropped the better it will be for them.

THE dodging and covert evening "contrumpery" will find it an idle task to throw dust and play the ostrich act when discussing the proprietorship, editorial conduct and general manage ment of THE TIMES. The people under stand the status, and the innendo-man afacturing establishment over the brick stable on Main street cannot de ceive the public, nor even itself, as to the facts. Our motto is, "Stand fast, stand firm, stand true!" and we neve sacrifice a loval friend at the behest of an enemy or a gang of enemies.

THE session of the Farmers' Institute, to be held at the Chamber of Commerce in this city on the afternoons of the 4th and 5th inst., will be well worth attending by all who are interested in agricultural pursuits. There is to be a paper on "Soils and Fertilizers" by Prof. Hilgard, and papers on various topics by Prof. Wickson and others. The meetings will be open for discussion, will undoubtedly prove interesting and instructive. In no country in the world is there more call for the farmer and fruit-grower to study scientific details than in Southern California.

THE steamship Indiana sailed away from Philadelphia laden with 8300 tons of flour, grain and other provisions for the starving Russian peasants, which has been bought by the contributions of Philadelphians, whose relief fund already amounts to nearly $100,000. The Indiana's coal bunkers were filled by a Philadelphia coal company without cost. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company carried thousands of barrels of flour free of charge from various shipping points to the dock at which Indiana was loaded. Stevedores placed her cargo on board free of cost. An insurance company has put $50,000 insurance upon the ship and cargo free of cost. The destination of the vessel is Libau, on the Baltic Sea, where she will discharge her life-sustaining cargo into freight cars, orders for which have been cabled. The breadstuffs can thus ckly transported to the very doors of the famine sufferers within a short time after the arrival of the Indiana at

A Subsidized Incubus, The homely old saw that every tul should stand on its own bottom finds illustrious exemplification in the Pacific Mail Steamship Company Here is a corporation which for many years has depended on subsidy and has continually gone from bad to worse Not content with drawing from the Government about $1,200,000 a year for the ostensible purpose of building up American commerce, it also accepts a bonus of $900,000 a year from the transcontinental railways for the purpose of rendering the Government subsidy nugatory-or, in other words, to break down American commerce. It would not be necessary to have the services of a Philadelphia lawver to tell whether there is anything incompatible between these two services which the Pacific Mail undertakes simultaneously, Whether, in the case of an open con flict between the two duties, the Government bounty or the railroad bonus would prove the stronger influence we are left to draw our own conclusions. The people of San Diego have some ideas on the subject. By the terms of the mail contract the steamers of the Pacific Mail are required to stop at San Diego. This obligation the company sought to shirk outright. When at last they were brought to book through influ ence exerted at Washington they attempt a pro forma call at San Diego, but refuse to receive passengers or freight for or from that port.

Why does the subsidized company take this course? Doesn't it want to encourage legitimate business? Isn't it engaged in carrying passengers and freight for money? and doesn't it want to turn an honest dollar whenever it can? Here is where the railroad bonus pinches. Pacific Mail has already sold so much of its space on shipboard to the railroads (to go empty) that it really hasn't any room for San Diego passen gers and freight. It is afraid that if it accommodates and encourages American commerce as it should do, and as it is paid $1,200,000 a year to do, it may break the terms of its other contract, and forfeit the $900,000 of railroad backsheesh."

For years this impudent corporation has fattened upon subsidy and blackmail, while actually engaged in the work of demoralizing and crippling American commerce. It has been a constant discouragement of traffic upon the seas. So far as lay in its power it has closed the door of the great ocean highway, and made it a toll-road for the railroad monopolies of the country. It has employed for its business old tubs, slow, inconvenient, out of date and hardly seaworthy. And why not? Its profits lay not in building up traffic, but in discouraging it. The old tubs could go empty and earn more in subsidy and blackmail than they could make by legitimate enterprise.

If the American people ever hope to gain prestige upon the seas-if they expect in time to have a merchant marine worthy of this great country-they must adopt some different measures than those hitherto in vogue with Pa-cific Mail. Every dollar now paid to this vampire is equivalent to investing $10 to destroy commerce. The money mgiht as well be expended in fitting out privateers to prey upon our own shipping.

And this brings us to the original proposition that every tub ought to stand on its own bottom. If Pacific Mail, instead of being supported in luxurious idleness, had to scramble for its living it could not afford to accept a bonus from the railroads to refuse passengers and freight. It would have to be enterprising and thorough and en courage commerce by every means in its power. It would have to own good, modern vessels and run them in a satis factory way. It would be compelled to do all this or go out of business. Our experience goes to show that there is nothing so disastrous to a legitimate enterprise as an unearned subsidy. It is like the gambling habit in man-discouraging to every honest effort at hard work. A subsidized railroad is the one that oppresses the peo ple and holds the country back, instead of fostering and developing it. The subsidized newspaper is the one that for feits public confidence and runs at a steady loss. We have abundant proof that a subsidized steamship company is no exception to the general rule.

Rather than have this iniquity con tinued it would be better for the United States to cut off every dollar paid to Pacific Mail-let the line go to Davy Jones's locker-and have our mails carried in foreign bottoms. That at least would leave the ocean highways open to competition, and legitimate American shipping could have a fair chance with the rest. The railroad companie would then find it more difficult to extend their conquests over the oceanthere would be too many companies to ubsidize to do nothing-and we should have the benefits of competition in interior commerce as well. That is the way to build up American trade on a healthy basis, and in time it would flourish both on land and sea.

It is said that the gold ordered for export from the United States since February 19 amounts to $8,780,000. drain seems to have set in despite the balance of trade in our favor. Perhaps it is as well that this thing should go on until the stringency in money matters brings on a crash. Then the Nation's legislators and the pres of the country will cease their twaddle about "an honest dollar" and devote themselves to the problem of having dollars enough to do the business of the country with. We must have a sufficient circulating medium to answer the requirements of trade or we shall suffer the severest consequences.

OCCASIONALLY a loiterer at the beach picks up a bottle with a message in it. One was found at Long Beach last Sunday which requested the finder to com municate with J. B. Smith, No. 351 State street, Chicago, intimating that the writer was adrift on the boat Alaska, on the 16th ultimo. The bottled letter is believed to be a fake. One or two other similar bits of smartness came to light recently. The only regret is that the fool-killer is not around when these things are perpetrated, so that he might gather in his own. A person who prepares such a missive and sets it affoat, with the deliberate purpose to humbug somebody, s trifling with a custom rendered sacred by the perils of the sea. He deserves to be placed in some desperate strait where his last chance of life is staked on such a message and let some body find it and think it is only a joke. The tendency of this bort of foolishness is to discredit all messages received in this way. It's a good deal easier to laugh over the letter found, and disregard it, than to trace it up and perhaps convey a last message to sorrowing ones or rescue somebody who is in peril. Let thoughtful people discard that kind of tomfoolery. It is not a very good joke at best, and if it wins it only cules the good offices of some conscientious person. That able protectionist journal, the American Economist, notes an improvement in the tin plate liar. "Not long since," it says, "he would not admithat any American tin plate mills existed. Now he only contends that the American establishments do not make tin plate of certain kinds and certain sizes of a certain thickness in certain large quanties at certain low prices.' is a hopeful indication, surely, Pretty soon the tin plate liar will fold his tent and silently steal away, like the steel rail liar and the wire nail liar and the other "tariff reform" Ananiases who have preceded him.

SENATOR SHERMAN'S resolution in structing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to report such provisions of law as will empower the Federal courts to try all cases involving the relations of this country to other countries, including the protection of foreign citizens, is in line with President Harrison's recommendation, and looks to a removal of the existing anomaly by which National Government is without the means for keeping its plighted faith with other powers.

WITHIN the past three months the State of Georgia has paid out $600,000 in pensions to old Confederate soldfers and their widows. Why don't some of the Democratic papers kick about that?

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES

GRAND OPERAHOUSE.-Frederick Warde may well be proud of the audience that turned out to welcome him at the Grand last night, for it comprised quite all the first-nighters in the city, who jammed the first-nighters in the city, who jammed the house until at 8 o'clock standing room was at a premium. It was the greatest assem-blage of theater-goers that has flocked to the operahouse this winter. No doubt an added attraction was the

No doubt an added attraction was the fact that a popular young Angeleño was in the company (Charles Vining Vogelsang,) but Mr. Warde is a prime favorite on our boards, and has found a warm reception awaiting him for several seasons past. awaiting him for several seasons past.
Curtain calls were many last night and at the second call after the third act Mr. Warde did the graceful and handsome thing by bringing Mr. Vining forward with him. The curtain being still demanded the star made a neat and timely speech of thanks for the fine audience and the warm reception, mentioning the Los Angeles member of his company by name, all of which was enthusiastically applauded.

The play was The Lion's Mouth, a romantic drama of old Venetian days under the Doge, when racks and thumbscrews and headsman's axes were the proper caper and the willy intriguer was firstly boss of the ranch and later on found some other chap who had a bigger pull than he had.

and the wily intriguer was firstly boss of the ranch and later on found some other chap who had a bigger pull than he had. The drama is written on a high plane, is full of fine lines and strikingly dramatic situations and tableaux. The special scenery added very much to the strength of the performance, which passed off to the evident enjoyment of the great audience.

Mr. Warde is the same strong, virile actor we have had with us before, who, but for a tendency to overact in certain portions of the play, would give nearly a perfect rendering of the part of "Rinaldo." It is a most picturesque rôle, and Mr. Warde made up as the dashing, moustachioed Venetian, was quited disguised. He played with great dash and spirit, and kept the sympathies of the audience close to him.

The "Fra Angelo" of Charles D. Herman was a powerfully well done but of dramatic work that stamped him as an unusually line actor. It was a clean cut, strong and thoroughly intelligent playing of a strong part. Harry Leighton as "Marco" played with cleverness and spirit and evinced an analy of manner that. thoroughly intelligent playing of a strong part. Harry Leighton as "Marco" played with cleverness and spirit and evinced an ease of manner that was very winning. Mr. Vining as "Claudio" did remarkably well for one who is only on his first tour on the professional stage, and we doubt not will make his way with credit and distinction. Fanny Bowman as "Marcella" was very good, as was the "Linora" of Adele Belgarde. Joline Butler as "Julio the Doge" was scarcely up to the standard of the company, and the same might be said of a number of the others in the cast, but the whole was sufficiently well done to give an evening's fine pleasure to a very fine assembly. #### CHINESE WOMAN ABDUCTED.

A Celestial Bride Carried Off by a Whit On the 29th of last month Justice Stanton united in marriage a young Chinese girl named Mee Gum, who acted as bridesmaid for the swell Chinese woman with small feet at her wedding, and Ah Bow. Last night Mrs. Bow wa kidnaped by a white woman from San Francisco, who is supposed to be a mis-sionary. The white woman was hang-ing around Chinatown all night, and was seen in a hack near the Chinese theater at 10 o'clock. A few minutes later Mrs. Bow, who attended the theater, came out alone and walked toward Los Angeles street. She had gone but a short distance when the hackman, who had been driving the white woman around, jumped down from his seat and grabbed Mrs. Bow and hustled her into the back. He then drove to the Arcade depot where the white woman bought a ticket to San Francisco for the bride and the two boarded the train and got out of town before the alarm was given. Both women will be arrested today if the Chinese woman's husband can get a warrant. was seen in a hack near the Chines

OLD AND NEW WATER RATES.

What the City Water Company is Entitled to Charge Under Its Contract, and What It Does Charge

Following is a comparison of the water rates in vogue in this city in 1868 (upon which the 30-years' contract with the City Water Company was based) and the rates which the company now collects under the existing regulations of the Council. The basis of schedule is somewhat varied in a number of instances, and it is difficult, for this reason, to make exact comparisons, paragraph by paragraph; but it is evident that the prevailing rates are generally far below the schedule of 1868:

Rates of 1868

For tenements occupied by a single fam-ily of not more than five person, $2. For each additional persons, 85c.

A reliable estimate of the annual cost of furnishing water under the old dule, if applied to the present population, and comparing that cost with the whole amount paid by the citizens last year, would be interesting and instructive

The present schedule is susceptible of further improvement. It requires qualization, to the end that the poor people and other small consumers may be given the benefit of still lower rates, and owners of large blocks, residence and ounds be required to pay in proportion to their actual consumption. The city ould undoubtedly pay for street aprinkling and fire pluge, and thus equalize the order of maintaining a public service designed for the benefit of all the citizens

THOSE FORGED ORDERS.

Sensational Developments in the Case Yesterday.

The Forged Paper Held by Attorney J. W. Jackson.

The Orders Assigned to Him by George Munroe.

Statements That Other Forgeries Have Been Discovered, Aggregating $1700 the Case.

Brief mention was made in THE TIMES vesterday morning of the discovery of wo forged orders, on which the salaries of two teachers in the public schools had been paid, and that the matter was being investigated.

The investigation was continued yesterday, and, from present indications, it looks as though a string of forgeries have been committed, which, in point of numbers, at least, discount those of 'Jim the Penman." better known as J. M. Damron. It is now stated that there are from twenty-five to thirty forged orders out, at least, and that the gate sum is something over $1700. These orders are on the various city departments and also some on the county, and they are all held, so far as known, by J. W. Jackson, of the law firm of Jackson & Cox, whose office is in the Los Angeles National Bank building, at the corner of First and Spring

HOW THE FORGERIES WERE DISCOVERED. Although the practice is illegal, it is Although the practice is illegal, it is generally known that city employes are in the habit of discounting their warrants, "selling their pay," in advance, as it were. A higher rate is charged by the money-lenders for this "accommodation," and to such an extent has the business grown that those who make a specialty of it have regularly printed orders, which are signed by the borrower, and on these orders the warrants are delivered by the Auditor to the lender, who in turn has the warrant cashed by the Treasurer, getting the cashed by the Treasurer, getting the money and closing the transaction, the Treasurer retaining the order and warrant, the person to whom the money is paid indorsing the latter.

Tuesday morning Mr. Jackson put in an appearance at the City Auditor's office with a number of orders of the "State Investment Company," indorsed to him by George Munroe as secretary. He first presented five "orders" for warrants on the fire department fund, but was told that they had already been paid. He then presented two orders for warrants on the school fund, one for the salary of Helen Henry, $80, and the other for Mr. Lehmer, $110. The warrants had not been called for and they were handed over to Mr. Jack-son, who at once went to the City Treasurer's office to get them cashed. Treasurer Johnson noticed a discrep-ancy between the Lehmer order and the warrant, the former being for $110 and the latter for only $100, and called Mr. Jackson's attention to it. Mr. Jackson at once took the warrant back, say-ing he would see about it. The Henry warrant was then presented, and, be-ing in regular form, was duly cashed, Mr. Jackson indorsing it. Later Councilman Innes called at the Auditor's office for Miss Henry's war-rant, the lady being sick and having asked him to collect it for her. He was asked him to collect it for her. He was greatly surprised when told that it had already been paid on an order signed by Miss Henry, and sent word to the lady to that effect. Miss Henry at once responded, and when shown the order at once pronounced it a forgery. Treasurer Johnson then sent word to Mr. Jackson, but that gentleman was not in his office and nothing was said about the case at the City Hall as the officers wanted to look into the matter further. Yesterday morning, however, Mr. Jackson went to the City Treasurer's office, when he refunded the $80 he had received the day before and took back the order, saying that he would have the whole matter investigated.

DECLINES TO TALK. A TIMES reporter yesterday called on Mr. Jackson in his office in the Los Angeles Bank building, but that gentleman said he had no statement to present. He merely said that he knew the man who was responsible, and had found out all his tricks, but would not say anything for publication

SENSATIONAL STATE OF AFFAIRS From persons in a position to know it was learned, however, that Mr. Jack-son's losses are considerably more than the sum represented by the two school warrants. It is said that the gentleman has at least $1700 worth of paper on hands that he will have trouble in real-izing on. Of course it is not known just how much of this paper is worthless, but, judging from that which has been presented, all of it comes within this category. These orders, it is said, are made out on the blanks of the State Investment Company, and are assigned to Mr. Jackson by George Munroe, as secretary, presumably, of the company. It is also said that when Mr. Munroe assigned these orders to Mr. Jackson he asked him not to present them until March 28, as he would himself take them up before that time. It is further stated that this is Mr. Jacknt is further stated that this is Mr. Jackson's first venture in discounting warrants, and will probably be his last. No blame attaches to Mr. Jackson, as he immediately returned the $80 paid him as soon as he learned that the order was a forgery.

THE STATE INVESTMENT COMPANY. The State Investment Company's The State Investment Company's office is at room No. 37, Bouebrakes Bryson Block, where Mr. Munroe, who is an insurance agent and is secretary also, has his office. The company is not incorporated, although on the 24th of February last a brokerage license was issued to the institution by the City Clerk, the usual fee of $10 being paid. At this time Mr. Munroe stated that his company expected to incorporate about the 15th of March, but in the meantime would transact business.

A Times reporter called at the office of the company yesterday afternoon, when the young man in charge stated that Mr. Munroe was at home sick, but would probably be in the city today. No one else, he said, could give any information concerning the matter.

Up to last night no complaints had been filed, nor warrants of arrest issued, and it was reported that efforts were being made to settle the matter.

The Reports Exaggerated. Frank Dillon, father of the boy arested for robbing the Fifield rested for robbing the Fifield house on Boyle Heights, yesterday called at THE TIMES office to say that the reports of the affair have been greatly exaggerated. He says the house was left untenanted for months and was supposed to be deserted, as it was left unlocked. He says the police did not find a shotgun and jewelry at his house, but only a soap-dish and two little plates which his boy had picked up, supposing they were not wanted and which he gave up as soon as he was asked for them.

MENDOCINO'S MURDERER.

Strong Evidence Against Martin, the Alleged Poisoner.

He is Believed to Have Been One of the Greenwood Butchers.

A Chemical Analysis of Heldt's Stomach to be Made.

Other Coast News-A Batch of Appeals for Pardon Rejected by Gov. Markham—Gov. Torres on the Boundary Question.

By Telegraph to The Times.

UKIAR, March 2.—[By the Associated Press.] Sheriff McKenzie of Napa county arrived this afternoon to interview Edgar Martin, who is thought to be one of the Greenwood murderers. He has telegraphed to Napa for a man to identify Martin. The man will be here tomerrow. Martin was arrested on Monday for poisoning Fred Heldt at Fort Bragg.

Considerable excitement was caused by the arrival of Sheriff McKenzie and his belief that Martin is one of the Greenwood murderers. While Martin was arrested for poisoning Heldt and forging a will interest in him is oc-casioned by his being the suspected Napa murderer. Sheriff McKenzie was introduced to Martin as a representative of a San Francisco paper, claiming that he wished to get the facts of the the Heldt poisoning for publication. Sheriff McKenzie tried to make him Sheriff McKenzie tried to make him talk about his life and experiences, but Martin would tell nothing and admit nothing unless confronted with evidence. Papers found on Martin are very damaging and show him to be a crook concerned in more than one crime. They also show that he has friends who are interested with him. He studiously avoids mentioning Napa county, but made one admission which is considered important. The murderer is considered important. The murderer of Mrs. Greenwood was known to be a fine horseman and made a business of breaking mules on the Hawaiian Islands. Today Martin said that he had breaken 200 mules on the island. Those ands. Today Martin said that he had broken 200 mules on the island. Those who know him here say his horsemanship was unexcelled.

Having never seen the murderer of Mrs. Greenwood. Sheriff McKenzie of course cannot identify him, but he remarked to-day that if Martin was not the man there was no use in arresting anyone else, as he answered the description so perfectly. After a brief intertion so perfectly. After a brief inter-view with Martin Sheriff McKenzie telaphed for Capt. Greenwood to come He will arrive tomorrow after-

Mrs. Heldt arrived from Fort Bragg this afternoon and tomorrow will swear out a warrant charging Martin with the murder of her husband. She was furious when she saw the witnesses to the signing of the fraudulent will and who are thought to be concerned in the affair. Heldt's stomach was brought to town this evening for shipment to San Francisco for analysis to ascertain if he was poisoned, TONIGHT'S FIGHT.

Maber and Lawson at the Pastime Club-Billy Maber and Jim Lawson, both of whom have held the light-weight championship of Australia, and two of the cleverest men that have ever been matched in this city, meet in the ring at the gymnasium of the Pastime Club this evening to settle the question of supremacy. Both are reported to be in good trim, but as regards condition it is supremacy. Both are reported to be in good trim, but as regards condition it is very probable that Lawson will have considerable advantage over his opponent, as he has been in training longer. Maber's reputation as a hard hitter is well founded, and, as he will undoubtedly force the pace from the start, it is safe to predict that the fight will be a long-lived affair. That it will be a scientific affair goes without saying, as both men are pretty high up in their class and are therefore experienced. Moreover, although both have held the championship, they have never had an opportunity of meeting before, and consequently the question as to which is the better man of the two could not be determined. For this reason alone, if for no other, it can readily be seen that the men mean business and that the fight will be for blood.

Contrary to usual custom tickets have not been sent to members of the club this time, but have been placed in club this time, but have been placed in the hands of the secretary, who will deliver them to members in person at the door this evening.

Rhode Island Democrats Indorse Grover Cleveland.

Republicans in New York Make a Clear Sweep in the Various City Elections -A Blaine Boomlet Springing Up.

By Telegraph to The Times. WASHINGTON, March 2.—[By the Associated Press.] "Jerry" Rusk for President is the latest thing in the political line in Washington, "Uncle Jerry" line in Washington. "Uncle Jerry" does not know it and has not been even consulted, but a number of Republican Senators eager to defeat Harrison's renomination have agreed to take up the farmer statesman from Wisconsin at the proper time and nominate him if can swing enough votes to do it. Their argument is that Rusk is popular with the farmers and therefore would be a great vote-getter; that he has a d record as a soldier, that he has had experience enough in public affairs to show that he is a man of ability and capacity. It is argued that if put forward in the convention he would weaken Harrison where Harrison is supposed to be strongest, in the West and South. these Republican Senators succeed in bringing enough anti-Harrison Republicans into line for Rusk probably a break will be made in the convention.

RHODE ISLAND DEMOCRATS

Their Delegation at Chicago Instructed to Support Cleveland. PROVIDENCE (R. I.,) March 2.—[By the Associated Press.] The Democrats of Rhode Island met this morning for the nomination of State officers and selection of delegates to the national convention. Charles E. Gorman was elected temporary chairman. speech eulogized Cleveland's administration and his remarks were greeted with loud applause and a few hisses.

A resolution was presented and re-ferred to the Platform Committee in-structing delegates to the national con-vention to vote for Cleveland. It was received with great enthusiasm.

The temporary organization was made permanent. The platform reported to the convention demands free raw material; approves the Springer Wool Bill and urges its early passage; favors placing iron, coal and timber on the free list. Upon the coinage question it reads: "Every dollar of American money, whether of gold, silver or paper, ought to be equal the world over." The repeal of the Sherman Coinage Act is favored because of its failure to accomplish the results desired, and for like reason the free coinage of silver is opposed except upon an international agreement. The platform closes with Mr. Honey's resolutions of instructions. Nominations for Governor being terial; approves the Springer Wool Nominations for Governor being called for, the faction accredited to Cleveland presented the name of David Baker, ex-Lieutenant Governor. D. C. Wardwell was placed in counter nom-ination. The vote resulted in Ward-well being declared the nominee. For Lieutenant-Governor Charles F.

Gorman of Providence was nominated over Charles Acton Ives of Newport who was placed in nomination by the Ward-well men. Ives was repudiated by the Newport men and a bitter talk followed, one of the speakers intimating that Newport had been traded for Sen-ator Aldrich. John J. Hefferman of Woonsocket was unanimously nominated for Secretary of State. The other nominations were: Ex-Atty.-Gen. Ziba of Slocum for that office again, Thomas G. Spencer of Warwick Treasurer.

The platform as framed by the committee was unanimously adopted without discussion, together with the reso out discussion, together with the reso-lution instructing the national dele-gates to vote for Cleveland. The dele-gates to Chicago selected are: Mr. Honey-of Newport, Hugh J. Carroll of Pawtucket, Frances L. O'Reilly of Woonsocket, Lafayette Bartle of Bur-rowville, Franklin P. Owen of Scituate, William B. Nichols of Bristol, John T. Parker of West Greenwich, Amos J. Parker of West Greenwich, Amos J. Dawiey of Richmond. The delegation is solid for Cleveland. The convention adjourned after the most bitterly fought contest ever held in this State. arker of West Greenwich, Amos J

BASEBALL.

Important Changes in the Rules of the National League. New York, March 2.—[By the Asso-ciated Press.] The National Baseball League this afternoon adopted the report of the Committee on National Agreement. Price for drafted players from minor leagues was settled, as announced last night. The Western Association agreed to do away with two objectionable rules, viz: Compelling players to purchase their own uniform and charging them 50 cents per day and charging them 50 cents per day while on trips.

The Committee on Rules then made a report. There was quite a contest over the proposed change from four balls entitling a batsman to first base to three balls, and it was flually beaten. A number of playing rules were then adopted, among them the following:

The players' bench shall be twenty-five feet back from base lines. If a team resorts to dilatory practices for the purpose of having the game called on account of rain or darkness, the umpire shall forfeit the game to the other on account of rain or darkness, the umpire shall forfeit the game to the other other club. #### TRIED TO AID THE TRUST.

A Boston Man Indicted for Tampering With the Grand Jury.

Boston, March 2.—[By the Associated Press.] The announcement made yes-terday that an indictment had been found against a certain person charged with tampering with the United States with tampering with the United States Grand Jury and endeavoring to prevent the indictment of the Whisky Trust officials is confirmed tonight, and the name of the person is made public. Dr. Nathaniel Ware Hawes, a dentist, is stated to be the indicted person, but has not yet been arrested. Dr. Hawes admits having talked with some of the jurors about the case, but denies that any offer of money was made or that he had any intention whatever of influencing the jury.

According to his statement, having personal friends among the Whisky Trust members, he remarked in the course of a friendly conversation with one of the jurors, that if the members of the trust could be heard by the jury an indictment would not be found against them. Dr. Hawes and the juror with whom he conversed, are personally acquainted with each other, and these facts are said to account for the indis-cretion committed by the former in holding the conversation.

STEAMERS MUST DOCK.

Diego Dispute. SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—[By the Associated Press.] A Washington special says that Assistant Postmaster Bell, who has charge of the foreign mails was asked the reason why sacks of mail for different points in the United States delivered by a Pacific Mail steamship at San Diego on her north-bound trip had been returned to the steamer and taken to San Francisco. He was also informed of the statement of the postmaster at San Diego that he had re-fused to receive mail because he had received no orders of any kind as to the handling of South and Central American

Mr. Bell said he knew nothing of the incident and could not speak intelligently until he knew where the mail was going, and which class of matter it was. He promised, however, that the was. He promised, however, that the handling of mails would be facilitated as much as possible.

With reference to the complaint that Pacific Mail steamers had refused to tie up at the wharf in the port of San Diego, but remained in the stream, Bell said: "Haven't they landed! Well, if they have not, they will."

THE DEADLY CORSET.

It is Compared to the Indian Lip Jewels.

A Professor Descants on the Deca dence of American Women.

Statistics Based on Measurements of Women of All Nations.

Mrs. Langtry and the Venus de Milo-An Enemy of Slim Waists— Lectures to the Women.

I called today on Dr. J. H. Kellogg of this city, who has recently come into prominence by his statistical exposition of a physical decadence in American which he attributes to improper dressing, writes a Philadelphia Press correspondent from Battle Creek, Mich. The doctor is one of the associate editors of the Bacteriological World and Modern Medicine.

A man, he bristles with enthusiasm when discussing his recently gathered statistics concerning the deadliness of the corset.

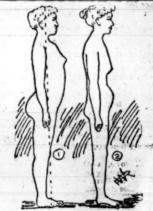

"I do not know why it is so," he said, "but it is a strange fact that the human race seems to have a penchant for mod-ifying the natural shape into a deformity—a penchant, however, that takes a less dangerous direction among savages than civilized people.

"The Indian woman of Alaska sticks a pin through her upper lip. Other savage women insert a fishbone in their under lip. The civilized woman holds up her hands in horror at that and pro-ceeds to bore holes in the lobes of her ceeds to bore holes in the lobes of her ears from which she may hang her jew-elry. There are tawny mothers who think they are fulfilling their maternal duty when they compress their off-spring's head into the shape of a cone or squeeze it into a fascinating flatness.
Other mothers, less barbarous, squeeze the feet of their daughters into shapeless masses of bone and gristle, in the firm belief that no young lady can make an eligible bride if her foot exceeds in measure the conventional three inches. Still other mothers, more civilized and none the less fondly thoughtful of their daughter's interests, base their expectations of a successful career for them as much upon the comeliness of their countenances or the brilliancy of their accomplishments."

COMPARATIVE MEASUREMENTS

"Some years ago, while studying Chinese women and the women of the primitive Indian tribes of Arizona and New Mexico, I was forcibly struck with the marked difference in physical proportion between the savage and the civilized woman. Since then I have se civilized woman. Since then I have secured a large number of measurements taken from American, German, Italian, East India and Chinese women, which place upon a mathematical basis the difference in waist measurement between the savage or semi-civilized women and the highly civilized woman. 'The following is a tabulated statement of some of the facts I have collected hearing on the question of wais'

"The Telugu women sustain the skirt, which is about their only article of clothing, by a cord tied around the waist and drawn as tightly as possible. This doubtless accounts for their com-paratively small waists. English work-women also injure themselves by wearing a number of heavy skirts attached

The Germa peasant woman discards waistbands altogether and wears her garment suspended from the shoulders by means of a waist, which gives her a more vigorous figure than the English peasant woman. The mode of dress of the Chinese women is such as to allow the nt woman discards waistbands al-ous figure than the English peasant woman. The mode of dress of the Chinese women is such as to allow the most perfect freedom of movement and room for development at the middle portion of the trunk.

"The famous English beauty, Mrs. Langtry, has recently had published a detailed account of her physical proportions, by which it appears that her height is 67 inches and her waist measure only 26 inches of some ancient Grecian models, but she omitted to call attention to the fact that her waist measure is only 38.8 per cent. of her height, while that of the queen of all the ancient statues of women wnich have been discovered, the famous Venus de Milo, is 47.6 per cent. of the height. Mrs. Langtry's waist measure, to be in the same proportion as that of the Greek beauty, should be 82 inches. I have taken the pains to make measurements of a considerable number of male statues, the work of eminent ancient artists, preserved in various European galleries, and find the average propor-tion of the waist to height of seven fa-mous models to be 46.4, or a little less than that of the Venus de Milo.

than that of the Venns de Milo.

"I have recently made measurements of forty-three young American working women, wearing loose garments, and found the average waist measurement to be 27.15 inches, or 44.64 per cent. of the height. Some of these young women had but recently been induced to adopt a healthful style of clothing. In the case of twenty-five of them I ascertained that previous to such adoption the average waist measure had been 23.8 inches, which had afterward increased to 27.15 inches.

AVERAGE WAIST MEASUREMENTS

"I find the average waist measure of girls from 9 to 12 years of age to be 23.5 inches. I have in some instances found the waist measure in girls of 12 to be 26 inches. From this time on the waist ceased to grow under the influence of tight bands, corset waists, or corsets. The fashionable dressmaker tinsists that the young lady's figure must be "formed," and so as she develops she grows into a mold like a cucumber in a bottle. And thus it happens that we find the civilized woman with a waist disproportionately small, as we find among the aristocratic class of Chinese women dwarfed and misshapen

"The small-footed woman of China is "The small-footed woman of China is compelled to hobble about in a most ungraceful fashion, requiring usually one or more persons to sustain her in keeping her balance. She cannot run, skip or dance as can her large-footed sisters. She is willing, however, to endure the inconveniences of being a cripple and the loss of the use of her feet and legs wither the force the less run of the state of the loss of the use of her feet and legs rather than forego the pleasure of being in fashion. If the sacrifices which the civilized woman makes to fashion were no greater, there would be comparatively small ground for complaint, but the constant girding of the waist results in mischief of vastly greater magnitude than those which the Chinese woman inflict more berealf

"If these comparisons show anything they prove that the small waist of the American woman is a deformity. There is no physiological reason why she should have a smaller waist than her. savage sister, or why Mrs. Langtry's waist measure should be twenty-six inches instead of thirty-two.

"As the flat-headed woman watches with growing pride the progressive de-pressions of her infant's skull, as the Chinese woman glories in the shriveled stump of what was once her child's foot, in like manner does her civilized mother pride herself on the smallness of her daughter's waist. Her effort to secure a change in the natural contour of the a change in the natural contour of the human form seems to be a more mon-strous violation of the laws of beauty, more disastrous to bodily health and vigor, than any similar barbarity prac-ticed by the members of any savage tribe. tribe. How such a disfigurement of the physique could ever have come to be considered beautiful is a problem hard to solve since it involves a violation of all the principles of art handed down to us by the great masters.

"Not to go into the many physical ailments which are superinduced by wearing corsets, I will say that the least of these is the deleterious effect they have on the lungs. I have experimented extensively with a new form of pneumograph or pneugograph, from which I have secured tracings that represent the whole respiratory movement resent the whole respiratory movement and emphasize my conclusions as I have explained them to you."

Monroe tendered his resignation as president of the association. On account of his recent illness his physical condition will not permit him to continue the added duties of the presidency, and he was compelled to take this step on the advice of his physician, though much regretting it. Prof. Monroe has been an active member of the board of directors during the past year, and his resignation will be learned of with regret by the members. His interest in the association, however, will be just as warm, and he will do all in his power to add to its success, working as one of the members.

his power to add to its success, working as one of the members.

The unanimous choice of the board for his successor is Dr. F. Grinnell, who was elected president at the annual meeting. He is a man well-known in the community, and, excepting the time that he was at Carlisle, Pa., in the Indian school, has been a member of the board from the beginning of the work here, and under his direction the association will, no doubt, have a prosperous year. Milford Fish was elected vice-president. He is a man well-known to our people, and, with his excellent business ability, will be a great help to the association in carrying on its work.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING. A special meeting of the City Council was held yesterday evening. President Lukens presided and all the trustees were present, besides City Attorney Arthur and Judge Carpenter of Los Angeles. Contrary to expectations nothing was done in the matter of the proposed new ordinance regulating the sale of liquor within the city limits. Considerable time was given to the discussion of the sewer question, and, although nothing definite was done, there is reason to believe that the matter will be satisfactorily adjusted at an early date.

anity of its possessor, and no place in all boast of greater variety and beauty in this direction than our cosmopolitan city. We have the homes of our millionaires—grand, palatial residences—architecture of tropic climes or half bizarre creations of inventive minds, carved exteriors and interiors, homes filled with costly furnishings of everything that taste can suggest, containing souvenirs and brica-brac collected in world-wide travels—mansions that will compare well with those of any of the great Eastern cities.

Then there are artistic homes less costly, built after the fancy of their owners, and unlike any found on the Atlantic coast. Take one, for instance, which many will recognize. A low, half-tent, half-cottage creation, surrounded by orange trees, palms and peppers; verandas at every sunny exposure, with bamboo seats, rustic chairs and strung with hammocks, and decorated with pots of lilles, etc. Each low window seems as a door. No entrance hall is needed. The rooms open into one another, filmy Alaskan portieres or Japanese fringes forming the division walls, through which one catches a glimpse of the whole, beautiful as a poet's dream. Oriental matting of the finest texture covers the walls, upon which are hung Indian baskets, Alaskan trophles, or some bright picture of poppy, pepper or citrus fruits in native wood irames, with here and there some foreign masterpiece of art. No echoes to the footsteps as one treads upon Navaho rugs or Mexican serapes. Heat radiates from a huge log fire in a centrachimney. Cellings of native wood or matting charm the eye. Couches of white and gold and Oriental divans invite repose. Native wood shelves, lined with books, suggest a feast of wisdom and literature. In dian baskets, filled with fruits and flowers, with an occasional palm, are scattered everywhere, and fill the air with their fragrance. Tea, brewed in Russian samovars, dainty dishes and rare old wines delight the inner man, and no one ever departs without some remembrance in the way of fruits or flowers fro

Fuller particulars in regard to the saloon cases are now at hand than were known when the press dispatch which appeared in Sunday's Times was sent. The complaint was filed against Max Erkes and Messrs. Beet and Charley Kells, of the South Side billiard hall, outside the municipal limits. The hearing was had at Cucamonga before Justice Matthay, Justice Holbrook being sick. The Kells boys pleaded guilty and were fined $60 each. Erkes stood trial and his case was continued to Monday. When the case was called the principal witness for the prosecution, a Los Angeles detective, did not appear. The case was therefore dismissed. The outcome of these trials, while not entirely satisfactory, is likely to convince would-be whisky venders that the Anti-saloon League means business and that Ontario is no place to sell the ardent.

The Early-closing Saloon Ordinance a Dead Letter.

The Mayor Refuses to Sign Warrants for the Arrest of Violators of the Law-Young Desperado Caught-

From the way the early-closing ordinance is being violated just now it does not seem to be highly successful. Marshal Daly got out papers for the arrest of L. Cerf and G. W. Glasgow for violating the ordinance last week, but in taking them before Mayor Collins the latter refused to sign them, claiming that it would be impossible to con-vict and the town would be put to expence for nothing. He was acting under the ad-vice of the City Attorney. Cerf kept open but ten minutes after 11 o'clock and in stating the case to the Mayor said it was not intentional and would not occur again. The marshal, after he found he could not get his warrants, concluded to let the sa-loons run to suit themselves and this is the situation at present.

SANTA ANA. [Branch office at Briggs' news stand, conner Fourth and West streets, where subscriptions and advertisements are taken.]

News Notes and Personal

John J. Morgan was arrested Tuesday evening charged with burglary. It seems that Morgan has been in the habit of sending his linen to the French laundry on Sycamore street, and in this way became acquainted in a business way with the proprietor of the establishment. Having a bundle of clothes in the laundry he sent a boy on Sunday morning to get it, but the boy returned and informed Morgan that the laundry was locked and his clothes could not be had. This seemed to make thim very angry and it is said that he de-clared he would have his clothes anyway. On Monday he went to the proprietor and asked for his bundle, but the same could not be found. He then demanded payment not be found. He then demanded payment for his loss, which was made by the proprietor. After paying the bill the proprietor became suspicious and informed Marshal Nichols of the affair. Morgan was hunted up, arrested and upon search the linen he wore bore the laundry mark of the missing articles, this furnishing strong evidence that Morgan had purloined the articles and after putting them on went back and made the proprietor pay for them. He was taken before Judge f. G. Marks yesterday and his preliminary examination set for Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

THE DUNGAN EPISODE.

The little street episode between Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Dungan a few days ago has not lost all its interest, although the participants have both taken their leave of Santa Ana, Mr. Dungan going to Arkamsas to join Capt. Anson's baseball team of Chicago and Mrs. Dungan going to her home in Oakland. G. G. Dungan, a cousin of Samuel, who was present when the unpleasant controversy between man and wife took place, informs The Times reporter that it was when he and his cousin passed by Mr. Garner's, where Mrs. Dungan and Miss Gould were sitting on the veranda about ten or twenty feet from the walk, that the altercation began. He avers that he and his cousin had no intention of engaging in a quarrel and that they were very much disgusted when Mrs. Dungan spit at them, although they were as much as twenty or thirty feet away. He is emphatic in the denial that Mrs. Dungan spit in Samuel's face, as previously reported to The Times representative by an eye-witness of the afair, but acknowledges that the insult intended amounted to about the same thing. It is unfortunate for all parties concerned that the affair happened, and they, no doubt, now see the mistake they made in attempting to settle private matters in public. Mrs. S. M. Dungan a few days ago has not

SERIES OF RUNAWAYS.

A series of runaways was caused Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock by the beating of the big bass drum of the Salvation Army. Prof. T. N. Spurgeon's large black horse also became frightened and started to run. became frightened and started to run. Miss Grace Spurgeon was seated in the buggy, and several bystanders, seeing her perilous position, rushed to her rescue, grappling both horse and buggy and assisting the young lady to the ground. It was several minutes before the horse could be quieted, and notwithstanding this fact the drum continued to sound, and the army marched on their way with apparent satisfaction.

Some fellows, with an infinite amount of "cheek," drove, with a big four-horse wagon, up to their barn, in the slaughter-house yard, loaded up with baled, hay to the amount of over a ton and hauled it off. On Tuesday Mr. Steadman, as soon as he discovered the theft, saddled a horse and followed the wagon's tracks, which, after going out South street, left the main road and made several detours in the cactus fields east of town, then fell back into the road, crossed the river and led off to a certain party's place in the cafion. Today Mr. Steadman went up the cafion to make a search for the hay, and if it is found on the suspected party's premises a warrant will be taken out for his arrest.

Its object is, as may be inferred from its title, to meet a universal want, and it has so far meet a universal want, and it has so far certainly been successful in its task. For an absurdly small fee an inquirer can obtain, through this medium, a reply to a question that would otherwise involve hours and perhaps days of research. So wide is the scope of its operations that it must ultimately become indispensable to such a busy age as the present.

WEDDINGS M. F. Shepherd and Carrie M. Thomas were married on Monday evening at the residence of the bride's brother, Charles A. Baskerville, South Los Angeles street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. W. Rider, pasto the Memorial Baptist Church. Members of the families of the parties and a number of friends were present, and after the marriage ceremony all sat down to a wedding supper, which was a pleasant feature of the happy occasion.

The bridal couple left on the morning train for San Diego, where they will spend the honeymoon.

On Tuesday evening a quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Jones, on Eleventh street near Alvarado, the contracting parties being their daughter, Alice Maude, and Lemuel R. Jones. No cards were issued and the guests included relatives only. Rev. Dr. Hutchins, pastor of the First Congregational Church, performed the ceremony. Refreshments and a pleasant social ensued in the neatly decorated parlors. The happy couple will reside on Fourteenth street.

The marriage of Miss Edna Parker spend the honeymoon.

The marriage of Miss Edna Parker and B. F. Thomas occurred yesterday at the home of the bride, corner Central avenue and Eighth street. The ceremony, which was private, was per-formed by Rev. A. C. Smither. The couple left at once for Santa Barbara, where they will remain a short time be-fore returning to this city, where they will reside.

JOLLY SOCIAL CLUB.

The weekly meeting of the Jolly So cial Club was held at the residence of Miss Estella Shields, No. 267 Frémont avenue, on last Tuesday evening. The quarterly election was held, and the following officers elected: President, C. Blanchard; vice-president, Miss Estella Shields; secretary, Miss M. Beaver; assistant secretary, D. Stansberry; treasurer, H. Schopeman; Representatreasurer, H. Schoneman; Representa-tive Committee, M. S. Mendelssohn, chairman, and Miss M. Beaver. The next meeting of the club will be held at the residence of Miss Belle Shields, No. 805 Figueroa street, Tuesday evening, March PLEASANT ENTERTAINMENT. Gen. George Crook W.R.C., No. 69, gave a pleasant entertainment at Pico Heights Hall last Monday evening, when the hall was filled-not even room for one more. This social gathering was under the management of the ladies of the above-named corps. An attractive programme was given and enjoyed by their many friends present.

Some appropriate and interesting re-marks were made by Comrade Ballard. A bountiful repast of cake and coffee a bountful repast of care and coffee was then served. At the final "washup" it was found there was three more cakes than the audience could eat. They were auctioned off by Commander Francis. They were bought and donated back and again sold until a neat little sum was realized. Everybody went home seemingly happy.

A LEAP YEAR BIRTHDAY. The friends of Mrs. Calvin Smith, of West Ninth street, tendered her a very jolly surprise party last Monday even jolly surprise party last Monday evening in honor of her birthday. Mrs.

Smith has the advantage over other ladies in that her birthday comes but once in four years, and it is therefore an occasion for celebrating, by reason of its rare occurrence. The guests gathered at the residence of Mr. D. A.
Judd, which adjoins that of Mr. Smith. and there concealed their identity with masks, sheets and pillow-cases and filed in a silent procession across the lawr to the home of their astonished friend who soon discovered, in spite of dis guises, "which was who." As each guest was recognized massed doffed and in a short time every one doffed and in a short time every one was absorbed in angling for fish. Music and refreshments added to the even-ing's enjoyment, and the leap year birthday party was a pronounced suc-cess. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Smith, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Judd, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Munson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bosbyshell, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Brainard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. D. MITCHELL M'DONALD.

Canadian Authorities Moving for His Ex-tradition on a Charge of Forgery. The Toronto Evening Telegram of February 24 contains the following:

The preliminary steps were taken in the Toronto police court this morning, which terminated, or will terminate this afternoon, in the issue of a warrant for the purpose of arresting and extraditing D. Mitchell McDonald, one of the directors of the defunct Central Bank, on a charge of foregry.

defunct Central Bank, on a charge of forgery.
Mr. McDonald is at present a fugitive in Los Angeles, Cal.
He is at present under the surveillance of an officer in plain clothes, and upon the arrival of the necessary telegram will be taken into custody.
The late Alderman Gillespie frequently wrote home saying that Mr. McDonald was a wronged man; that he got out of the way more to save others than to save himself, and that if he returned to Toronto and told all he knew his evidence would create an upheaval and scatter surprises in many quarters.

Charles Millar, who is acting on behalf of Charles Millar, who is acting on behalf of Mr. Hogaboom, the purchaser of the Central Bank assets, was interviewed on the matter this afternoon, and while corroborating what is given above refused to disclose any particulars as to the particular charge of forgery on which his extradition is asked.

McDonald was one of the directors of the bank who, with A. A. Allen, cashier, conspired in such a manner as to obtain large loans without security and overdrew his account to the extent of many, many thousands.

Mr. Hogaboom does not appear as the prosecutor in this case, but as one of the shareholders of the Central Bank.

Mr. McDonald is now and has been living in this city for some time without living in this city for some time without any attempt at concealment, and when the Associated Press several days ago announced that extradition proceedings had been commenced published a statement giving his side of the affair at length. It will probably be news to him to know that he is "under the surveillance of an officer in plain clothes," a proceeding which is apparently unnecessary, as Mr. McDonald has never tried to keep out of the way or conceal his identity.

Sheridan and Ochiltree,

[Boston Herald.] Once when General Sheridan, Tom Ochiltree and a Mexican gentleman were at San Antonio, Tex., the conversation fell on the possibility of another war with Mexico,
"Do you think we could we could whip Mexico?" asked the redoubtable

"Can a ton crush a pound?" sententious-ly replied Sheridan, and then it was discussed what terms the victor might demand, whether there would be a par-tition of Mexico, etc.

Sheridan grew impatient, for he was always a warm friend of the Mexican people, and a war with them would not at all have suited him, so he blazed out: at all have suited him, so he blazed out:

"Gentlemen, in case of war with Mexico, which God forbid, and in case we were victorious, I would not spare Mexico, no, sir! I would impose conditions of the most onerous sort; I would inflict a fearful penalty on Mexico, something to arouse the horror of mankind."

"What would that be?" demanded his excited listeners.
"Gentlemen," said the great soldier in his most solemn manner, "I would demand of Mexico that she take back

Formal Opening of the Citrus our Thousand People at the Pavillon Last Night.

Speeches by Gov. Markham and Hon Stephen M. White.

The Finest Display of Fruits Ever Seen i the State—Elaborate and Artistic Designs—List of Exhibitors— Tonight's Programme.

The army of workmen who have been busy at Hazard's Pavilion for days in preparation for the great Southern Cal-ifornia Citrus Fair of 1892 completed their labors last night and the doors were thrown open to the public at 7 o'clock. The 1500 boxes of fruit, the carloads of plants and foliage, the tons of ivy, the hundreds of yards of bunt-ing, the thousands of palm leaves, the yards and yards of smilax were all in place and over the artistic whole was thrown the glow of twenty-five arc lights of immense power and myriads of incandescent lights, which flashed from the evergreen dome, from the great proscenium arch and from the va-

To say that the display in point of artistic arrangement by far surpasses its two predecessors is but justice. The colors are limited to orange, lemon colors are limited to orange, lemon and green, which insures a harmonious blending that is very pleasing to the eye. A great canopy of wire netting, interlaced with ivy and cypress vines and studded with oranges and lemons, covers the entire dome of the building and through its center shines a row of incandescent lights. The immense incandescent lights. The immense proscenium arch, constructed of iron and wire network covered with pepper boughs, frames the stage. Great spike palms form the sides of the arch and a row of fan palm leaves form a border about the stage, an incandescent light shining at the base of each fan. A star of electric lights blazes from the center of the arch and on either side is a crescent formed of jets of fame. The ter of the arch and on either side is a crescent formed of jets of flame. The words "Southern California Citrus Fair" in yellow letters, and just above the year, "1892," stand out prominently from the background of green. The galleries are faced with palm leaves against bands of yellow and green bunting and garlands of cypress are festooned from the upper gallery.

PASADENA'S CROWN.

Immediately in front of the stage is asadena's huge crown, thirteen feet in diameter, made entirely of oranges, save the rows of lemons which separate the panels and form the points of the crown. The design is supported by slender columns wound with cypress and forms the roof of a booth whose interior is completely filled with an im mense pyramid of oranges. The crown is lined with pepper boughs and berries and an incandescent light concealed within illuminates the interior of the booth. Ninety boxes of fruit were used in the construction of this artistic and appropriate design, for Pasadena claims the right of the Crown of the Valley. SAN DIEGO'S FORT.

At the left of the stage is San Diego's model of her fort, which is composed of oranges, the building mounted on a base of lemons outlined with wreaths of smilax. The tower is capped with tangerines, and a silken flag bearing the words "San Diego Fort" floats from a flagstaff tipped with a gilded orange. Mounted guns look out from the portholes, which are wreathed with smilax. Over fifty boxes of oranges and a dozen boxes of lemons were required to com-plete this design. In the rear of the fort, and running under the gallery, is San Diego's display of oranges, lemons, olives, olive oil, raisins, marmalades, jellies, etc. A group of cacti at one end of the wall table contains some curi-

"COLT ON TERRACE." Opposite San Diego's display is that of Colton Terrace. On a table covering 500 feet of space is erected a model of the pagoda which adorns the terrace, covered with navel oranges, its tower capped with Temescal tin. The table is filled with fruit arranged in pretty is filled with fruit arranged in pretty designs, prominent among which is a hobby-horse of oranges mounted on a terrace which is designed to impress on the spectator the fact that the exhibit represents "Colt on Terrace." This is a clever little trick, and sverybody stops to look at the hobby-horse and wonder what its meaning is when slowly the idea dawns upon him.

THE KITE-SHAPED TRACK.
Highland has one of the most popular designs in the whole display. It is located just back of Colton Terrace and located just back of Colton Terrace and represents the famous kite-shaped track passing through the citrus groves of Southern California. The landscape is of oranges and the track is laid in lemons, all the stations along the line being distinctly marked. The arrowhead, which is such a familiar landmark of the San Bernardino Mountains, lies back of the smaller loop, and is also done in lemons. emons, all the stations along the line being distinctly marked. and, for a three-year-old, her tiers of lemons, peanuts, walnuts and mounds of oranges and raisins are remarkable.

In front of Colton's display is that of Ontario. The center of her table is or-Ontario. The center of her table is ornamented with an enormous upright lemon, eight feet high, made of lemons.
Pyramids of lemons adorn the corners of the table, which is made up solely of

THE REDLANDS DESIGN.

Back of Ontario is the Redlands de-

Back of Ontario is the Redlands design, which is a clever model of the proposed new High school depot to be erected at the junction of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fé railroads in that enterprising town. Redlands comes to the front, as usual, in the completeness and elegance of her design. The building is 12x80 feet and is mounted some three feet above the floor. The roof is of cypress, the ridges and gables of oranges. An octagonal tower ornaments the roof and this, too, is made of oranges and illuminated within with electric lights. An immense mock orange, two feet in diameter, is suspended from the center of the tower inside, and a big gilded game rooster is perched on the apex of the tower ready to fight for the premiums he wants to score. The words "Redlands High School Union Depot," done in yellow on a black background, are arched over the entrance on either side the building, the letters "S.-P. R. R."

on one side and "S.F.R.R." on the other to indicate the two railroads. The ceiling on the interior of the building is of yellow, paneled with oranges, frescoed with olive branches and illuminated by incandescent drop lights. The frieze and cornice are of oranges and the brackets are faced with oranges. On the interior are double brackets against the columns holding pots of choice cut flowers contributed from the famous Smiley place at Redlands. The floor of the building is surrounded with a solid terrace of oranges and inlaid with evergreens on which are beautiful designs wrought in oranges and lemons. An immense pyramid of oranges four feet high rises from the center with two smaller pyramids on either side. About these central figures are arranged other designs, bell-shaped figures, a heart, round and diamond-shaped pyramids and Greek figures, the Maltese cross, keystone, square and compass and other Masonic emblems. At one end the word "Redlands" is worked out in oranges, the first syllable being made in Malta blood oranges to harmonize in color with the word. Redlands also has a wall table filled with magnificent fruit. Altogether the design displays much

DUARTE'S EXHIBIT.

Duarte declares that since she got

"souped" in the way of prizes on her mosque last year she did not feel in-fined herself strictly to a straight, plain table display of oranges, "and," said one of her exhibitors yesterday, "we are going to 'scoop the goose' sure on prizes this year." She has come prepared to win on quality and her display looks as though she would do it. She has forty-eight boxes entered for individual prizes, besides forty-three boxes for general display. Their display, as usual, includes a greater variety of exhibits than any in the hall. Santa Barbara does not pride herself so much on her citrus fruits as on her rare trees, plants and flowers, and when it comes to variety of foliage and when it comes to variety of foliage and semi-tropic products all other localities stand back and remove their hats in silent respect and admiration, for it is useless to compete with Santa Barbara in this respect. She has over 800 varieties of plants in that big T up at the pavilion, to say nothing of her fruits and nuts and olive oil. She grows her custard pies, her camphor and her butter on trees, this last being known by the botanical name of "Avacada"—a fruit which looks like a small eggplant and which tastes like fresh butter, so it is called "midshipman's butter." She has cured olives and dates, and a pineapple growing serenely in a box, and all the vegetable curios imaginable. Mr. Lloyd is in charge of the exhibit and can analyze White-Interesting Programme.

The attendance at the pavilion last night was large, considering the weather and the fact that hundreds of people will not attend the opening night of any fair for the reason that they are afraid of a jam. It was es-timated by the management and ticket sellers that there were not less than 4000 people present. The audience was made up principally of visitors and country people, and to say that the Eastern people were delighted with the display is drawing it mild.

The musical and literary programme was well arranged and carried out to the satisfaction of all present. Arend's band furnished the music and rendered an attractive programme during the

THE EXERCISES.

At 8:80 o'clock the officers of the Chamber of Commerce, Gov. Markham, Mayor Hazard, Hon. Jessie D. Carr, Mayor Hazard, Hon. Jessie D. Carr, Hon. Stephen M. White and a number of invited guests took their places on the grand stand, and President of the Chamber of Commerce C. M. Wells called the immense audience to order in the absence of Eugene Germain, and after a few appropriate remarks he introduced Gov. Markham, who, on taking the platform said. Passing on, one panses before an exceedingly graceful little structure which represents Vernon. It is a gothic gateway. A gate, outlined in oranges, swings aside under a pointed arch on either side of which are gothic residence outlined with spiled palms.

GOV. MARKHAM'S ADDRESS.
Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen, Fellow-Citizens: I desire to thank you for the low-Citizens: I desire to thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me in inviting me to be present with you this evening and assist in the opening exercises. It is a double pleasure, for it affords me an opportunity of meeting many of my old neighbors and friends, and also the pleasure of enjoying with you this magnificent display of the products of Southern California.

The pleasure which I always experience display of the products of Southern California.

The pleasure which I always experience in greeting my old neighbors and friends is greatly enhanced on account of the length of time since I have met you.

For the last year or two it has been my privilege to visit almost every important subdivision of this great State, which affords me the opportunity of studying the resources and natural products of our soil most thoroughly.

As the result of my travels I am more than ever thankful that I am a Galifornian, enthusiastic over what has been accomplished in the past and sanguine as to the future. What we have accomplished in this portion of the State since I came here is simply marvelous. There were then but very few bearing orange groves, and it was considered a grave question whether citrus fruits could be produced in sufficient quantities to attract the attention of people and capital to this portion of the State, whereby this great industry might be placed upon a paying basis.

At that time we had no permanent market in the East for our fruits, because their Pomona's products are upstairs in the west gallery, and, as last year, she does not attempt to compete for artistic display, but relies on the solid merits of her fruit. At that time we had no permanent market in the East for our fruits, because their reputation did not compare davorably with the fivelign or Florida product; the cost of transportation was prohibitive; the time consumed in shipping was three times the present schedule, causing many and extraordinary risks to the shipper; fruit cars were poorly arranged, and our knowledge of planting and caring for the trees, of picking, sorting and packing the fruit, was very crude. It has taken time, money and patience to remedy these defects. Immense outlays of money and labor were required in the development of water for irrigating purposes, and, in almost every locality, legal controversies, bitterly contested, added to the fruit-grower's care and anxieties.

tested, added to the fruit-grower's cares and anxieties.

But the intelligence and industry of the people have surmounted all difficulties, and in citrus fruit culture we are now far beyond the experimental station.

Those of you who are today surrounded with refinement, luxury and plenty, who have escaped all that was disagreeable and unpleasant, should be thankful for the sublime faith that actuated the ploneers in this work.

The early settlers who witnessed these things, as well as you'who have come amongst us more recently, see tonight the results of the well-directed efforts of those who have labored so faithfully in the development of the horticultural interest in this portion of the State.

You cere finly have a right to feel proud of this exhibit, for no one can be so dull of comprehension, so devoid of feeling, that he cannot appreciate this beautiful display.

On this table are displays from various localities in Ventura county, a more detailed account of which will be given later.

NIVERBIDE.

Just as one turns the curve to pass to the rear of the gallery his attention is drawn to a pyramid covered with muscat raisins, which rises from a table whereon is arranged some splendid specimens of raisins in boxes, and navel oranges, heaped in generous mounds, squares and oblongs. This is the individual display of W. H. Backus of Riverside.

The GALLERY.

The rear of the gallery is devoted to an ice cream saloon, and here the ladies of the Chrysanthemum Fair Society preside over the ice cream tables, which are laid in a charmingly arranged reception room with a frieze of yellow bunting over which is a running tracery of ivy. The words "Ice Cream," done in crystal prisms against a yellow background, make an attractive sign.

The right side of the gallery is occu-

The name "Duarte," done in navel oranges, stands out conspicuously, and the table is inlaid with lemons, St. Michael oranges forming the edge and leading up to the individual displays. A miniature grove of papyrus and dwarf palms is raised above the center of the Michaels and Valencias, besides lemons, limes and grape fruit. Mr. Thompson of Duarte has a 12x15 table to himself adjoining the Duarte exhibit, which is heaped with a magnificent display of navel oranges comprising thirty-two boxes. Mr. Thompson says modestly that he expects to win the prize for the best individual display, the best box of Washington Navels and the best box of dany other variety not classified. With these trophies he will feel tolerably satisfied, As Mr. Thomson has taken the prize for the best box of navels for the past two years he can afford to speak with some assurance on the subject.

paring our fruits with those from other sections. No one could dispute our right to the highest premium awarded, which we then received. I believe with many of you that our prosperity in this industry dates from that time, and we all know that our progress since then has been one grand, triumphant march.

This exhibition, the one exhibited in "California on Wheels," and those that have been made at Chicago and other places have attracted thousands to this State in search of profitable investments, until California stands today as the leading fruit-growing State in the Union.

In this connection I desire to urge upon you the importance of the citrus exhibit at the World's Fair. This exhibition, I am sure, will be viewed by every visitor, and I trust that every effort will be put forth to make it a success, a credit to the State and an honor to the whole Nation.

When I recall the beautifully arranged citrus fair at Marysville last year, and when I see what you have done here this year, I am confident that our exhibition in Chicago will be unsurpassed.

am confident will be unsurpassed.

Our State is capable of accommodating at Our State is capable of accommodating at least 5,000,000 people, while at present our population is only 1,125,000, and I know of no means of advertising so successfully our resources and capabilities as a fine exhibit at Chicago.

Ladles and gentlemen, I thank you for your kind attention, and wish you all the success your industry, ability and talent so richly merit.

The Governor's remarks were re ceived with applause. MR. WHITE'S ADDRESS. Hon. Stephen M. White was next in-troduced and spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: When I was requested to say a few words here I stated to the committee waiting upon me that I did not think that a citrus fair was a very good place at which to attempt to make an extended speech. The people come to such places as this for the purpose of viewing the exhibition, not to listen to of viewing the exhibition, not to listen to anybody's remarks, and no speaker should expect to be able to command the undivided attention of an audience scattered through such a large building, and in close proximity to so many attractive local surroundings. Therefore, I shall say but a few words.

ings. Therefore, I shall say but a few words.

I do not think that it is necessary to call your attention to the magnificence of your surroundings; that you can see for your-selves. These beautiful realizations apparent about us tonight need no encomiums. It is not necessary in flowery phrase, or with appropriate gesture, to call attention to that which appeals at once to our sight. Ladies and gentlemen, as has been well said by the distinguished gentleman, the Governor of this State, who has already addressed you, this display possesses a business

Governor of this State, who has already ad-dressed you, this display possesses a business interest. It attests the fact that men have been at work with intelligence and capabil-ity, with brains, and with that which money alone cannot give—that undivided coöpera-tive effort directed in these channels where success is possible.

Think of an industry which, during the last season poured, into the coffers of this portion of the State perhaps $2,250,000!
That is more than sentiment. That means prosperity. Such a result is significant of more splendid things to come.

prosperity. Such a result is significant of more splendid things to come. In a portion of this State, especially I be lieve in San Bernardino county, there been planted within the last season 50 cent. of all the orange trees now in productive portion of our State.

what are the possibilities of this increased production if today we are able to furnish a crop which will yield us more than $2.000,000? Is it painting in roseate colors to say that in five or six years $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 will be our annual portion? This is not sentiment, though it is impossible to take from it these things that appeal to the imagination and which suggest to us something beyond mere materiality.

But, at the same time, there is perhaps no section of this great Union that will yield

But, at the same time, there is perhaps no section of this great Union that will yield such a magnificent crop, such a production in money results. As has also been well-remarked by Gov. Markham, we owe a duty in money results. As nas also been well remarked by Gov. Markham, we owe a duty to ourselves as well as to others. No man who thinks anything of himself or of his community, or of the orange industry, can afford to send to foreign markets, or even sell upon our streets, anything but the best fruit. The man who will send to Chicago or New York or elsewhere an orange that has been frozen or blighted ought to be condemned to eat straw the rest of his life. [Applause.] We know that even one box of inferior fruit, placed in a market where there are critical hands to handle it, and critical palates to taste it, will do an injury that cannot be compensated for by any talk, by any newspaper article, by any protest or pretense at all. We have an organization in the State that has its representative here, formed for the very purpose of enabling producers of citrus fruit, sentative new, former for the very pur-pose of enabling producers of citrus fruit, as well as producers of other fruits, to pro-tect themselves and the community, and they are doing so. We find the benefit of

as well as producers of other fruits, to protect themselves and the community, and they are doing so. We find the benefit of their labors all around us. We see evidences of it in the increased production and in the better quality of our fruit.
Fellow-citizens, for I appeal especially to those who have charge of our public affairs, let us see to it that we protect our industries and guard them with all that care which well-enforced regulations will bring about. Let us see that the dishonest man who attempts to palm off something that is not what it is represented to be is properly labeled himself and made a person known in the public market. This we owe to ourselves; we owe it to our State; we owe it to the people with whom we deal. Now, fellow-citizens, ladies and gentlemen,
I am not here for the purpose of delivering a lecture upon our public or private duty. I have been simply requested delivering a lecture upon our public or private duty. I have been simply requested to say a few words regarding this citrus fruit industry. I thought proper, however, to throw in these few suggestions as being worthy of your consideration, and as per-haps calling to your mind the necessity for exertion in the line which I have indicated. I will conclude by saying this: The orange-grower, the citrus fruit producer of Southern California, has reason to rejoice tonight.

He has met obstacles great indeed; he has surmounted them; he has met them with that energy for which he has become remarkable. [Applause.] He has placed in this hall tonight perhaps the most Beautiful display of the kind that has ever been exposed to the gaze of any people within the bounds of the United States. This, ladies and gentlemen, is witnessed to night not alone by persons of this locality who are to some extent used to such a dis play, but it is observed by ladies and gen-tlemen of culture and refinement who have itemen of culture and refinement who have come here from abroad and will spread around in their respective localities and impart to those at home what they have seen here tonight. This is not mere talk. This is the demonstration of an existing condition of things, such as appears to every man, woman or child who considers the prosperity and future of our State.

Let us redouble our efforts whether engaged in this industry personally or not. Let us contribute everything we can to its success and advancement. Let us, year by year, united with those who are doing so much for us in the lines of advancement, give them not only moral support, but on give them not only moral support, but or such occasions as this contribute our mate-rial effort, not for the mere advancement of this locality but for the benefit of all. Mr. White's speech was also received vith generous applause.

Hon. Jesse D. Carr was introduced, but stated that he could not make a speech. He informed the audience that the present display is the finest he had ever seen.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMME An excellent programme will be carried out this evening.

The tableaux to be given this evening, under the management of Mrs. D. P. Widney are designed to represent dreams and realities from the four car-

His fertile imagination pic-tures the flower fairies among the green tangle of the hummock lands of Florida, of which he has heard so often but never seen. "The Classic East" will portray a contrast in the realities: the struggling artist in his barren Roman atelier and his fire-light dream of the time when art was lived as well as pictured. His ideas center upon an ancient feast to Vesta, and he sees the virgins offering their libations and the youths and maidens decorating the statues in this fair garden of fancy, where Nature and Art are one.

"Our Golden West" is intended to be the dream and reality in one. It represents California's reception day, and her court is crowded with appli-cants. The hunter and fisher are receiving their share from the coquettish Diana; the farmer his grain from Ceres, while that goddess in her double per-sonification gives fulness to the shepherd's flocks. Pomona surrenders rich supplies to the horticulturist, while the real estate man also finds his largest returns under the shower of her favor. Maia, the fair pleiad who assists Vulcan with his precious metals, is loading the miner and the capitalist at the same time with precious metals, while Flora encircles the children and girls in her floral bands and showers her admirers payment of a debt, but the latter after inspecting it had efused to accept it. Finally he told Ayres about it and the defendant at once suggested that ne let him take it, as he could trade it. The witness accepted the suggestion and deeded the land to Ayres for a nominal consideration, with the understanding that he was to receive half of the amount obtained. He subsequently saw Ayres with reference to the land, but the defendant said that he had been unable to do anything with it.

C. H. Weitcott, the whistler, will also assist in the programme, and Arend's band will furnish music.

The prosecution created a sensation by calling Edward L. Baker, the real estate man recently convicted of a somewhat similar transaction, to the stand. The defendant, who had hith-"Just forty years ago today," said a Center township farmer, "I was bring-ing a load of lumber to South Bend, and near where the Lake Shore road now crosses Michigan street I broke a tire on one of the fore wheels of my wagon. I blocked up the axle and rolled the wheel down town to a blacksmith shop. I expected to have gone to one on Washington street, but when I got down, I think where Riddell & Riddell's wholesale grocery now is, I saw a new blacksmith shop had been started since I was lest to town and I rolled the wheel in erto maintained an admirable coolness, was evidently ill at ease when Baker responded, and as the witness proceeded to relate the inside facts concerning the deal Ayres' nervousness was very perceptible. Baker's testimony was to the effect that one day last spring he called at Norton's office and found Ayres and Norton enlast to town, and I rolled the wheel in there. The shop had opened that day and mine was about the first job and I and mine was about the first job and I was glad of it, as the two young fellows greeted me so cordially and were so anxious to do the work that I knew I would not have to wait. The shop was a small concern, and as I waited while the young men mended the wheel it occurred to me they would have hard sledding to make a living and I kinder! pitied them that they hadn't gone to farming in summer and hauling lumber in winter as I was doing. It would have paid so much better I thought. Who were the young men? Why Clem have paid so much better I thought. Who were the young men? Why Clem Studebaker and his brother Henry. I thought of that little shop today as I drove to the city and I went around by the Studebaker works and thought I would spend an hour going through them just to see for myself what the Studebaker Brothers had done in forty years. One hour? Why it would take me one day just to walk through them and one week to see them, so I didn't me one day just to walk through them and one week to see them, so I didn't go in. I thought I had a pretty good-sized farm but it wouldn't begin to hold the buildings, lumber sheds and lumber poles owned by the company which Hon. Clem Studebaker started forty rears ago to day when he mended forty rears ago to-day when he mende wagon tire."

About a box was picked from the tree this year and they are all alike. they are all alike.

It would not be exactly correct to call this lemon a seedling, as it was not grown from the seed. It seems that some aged Sicily lemon trees were growing on the place and two years ago they were cut off close to the ground for some reason. On half a dozen of the stumps shoots sprang up, and this lemon is the fruit of one of these shoots, now about two years old. The only theory which can be advanced as to why it has the color of an orange is that the old trees were originally budded on orange stock. They were cut off below the bud and the sap has intermingled so as to produce this new species. Mr. McKay is now curing the pro-

Mr. McKay is now curing the product of the tree and will shortly know its value as a lemon producer. The acid is very strong and of pronounced flavor and will become popular. Its development will be watched with deep interest by all horticulturists.

> The Tehachepi Valley [Ventura Free Press.]

A few years ago, say five or six, perhaps 5000 acres would cover the whole number of acres planted in the Tehachepi Valley with wheat and barley. It is estimated that at least 80,000 acres have this season been seeded there in grain, an increase of 5000 acres over the area planted last year. The fertile fields of this valley are beginning to be appreciated as well as they should be, for they are annually yielding a golden harvest. The mountain valleys do not yield grain along for their harvest, but yield grain alone for their harvest, but fruits, especially apples, are found to be a product of exceeding excellence, The apples are not only large and hand-some, but keep well and are of delicious flavor, equal to any, no matter in what part of the world they are raised.

Big Crops of Wheat and Barley.

(Ontario Observer.)

The barley and wheat acreage in San Bernardino county is the greatest everknown. This, indeed, may be said of the whole of Southern California. the whole of Southern California. From the six southern counties comes the report that both barley and wheat look better than did these crops at the same season last year. All along the line there are promises of a piethoric yield of hay and cereals, and, if nothing untoward occurs, the products will be abundant throughout the land. The redundant rainfall of recent days has put a new and cheering phase of the put a new and cheering phase of the agricultural situation, and has left the croaker without an occupation congenial to his pessimistic nature.

Sensation Caused by the Appearance

Put-up Job to Get Away with Valuab

Property for Worthless "Wash" Land—A Quarrel That Was Overheard.

The trial of the Lyman Ayres case was resumed before Judge Shaw and a jury in Department Five yesterday morning, and occupied their attention all day.

The first witness called was C. White Mortimer, an attorney, who testified that C. E. Norton came to him as the representative of the owner of the Baldwin property and wanted to borrow money upon it. After looking at the property the witness loaned $2000 upon it, taking a mortgage, which he drew up himself, as security therefor.

Some time afterwards Ayres met him on the street and took him up into an office in the Bryson-Bonebrake building, where he introduced him to a more when he furedaced him to a man whom he called J. W. Dunn. Ayres theu asked him to witness Dunn's signature to a deed, which he did, after some demurr-

ing. Next day Ayres went to him and told frim that as Duan had suddenly left the city and he was anxious to close a deal, he would have to get him (Baker) to acknowledge the deed before a no-tary. Accordingly the witness accom-panied Ayres to Notary Sturtevant's office and acknowledged the document. This was the deed to James Morgan.

This was the deed to James Morgan. Some little time afterwards Ayres told the witness all about the deal, and explained that the quarrel he had overheard in Norton's office was occasioned by the actions of Norton, who had mortgaged the Baldwin property to Mortimer for $2000, but had kept all the money and refused to divide it with his partners in the transaction claiming McComas, you ought not to do it; don't you see that you give these gentlemen a nightmare every time you ask leading questions?" The witness, proceeding, stated that the wash land wasn't worth

A Boy's Essay.

[Wichita (Kan.) Eagle.] A boy in the Wichita schools has been suspended for reading the follow-ing essay on "Pants" last Friday: "Pants are made for men and not men for pants. Women are made for men, and not pants. When a man pants for a woman or a woman pants for a man they are a pair of pants. Such pant don't last. Pants are like molasses don't last. Pants are like molasses, they are thinner in hot weather and thicker in cold. The man in the moon changes his pants during an eclipse. Don't you go to the pantry for pants, Don't you go to the pantry for pants, you may be mistaken. Men are often mistaken in pants. Such mistakes make breeches of promise. There has been much discussion as to whether pants is singular or plural. Seems to us when men wear pants they are plural and when they don't wear any it is singular. Men get on a tear in their pants and it is all right; but when the pants get on a tear it is all wrong."

Incubators for Early Chickens.

[Exchange.]

The incubator if of improved self-regulating kind is very handy for growing early chicks. It is used exclusively by those who make the growing of chicks for the early market a business, but it may be used with profit by farmers, who know that the earlier chicks are hatched the better winter layers they will prove next season. It is impossible to get fowls that will set early enough. Later in the season the incubator may be put away for next year, and the hatching be done by hens in the old-fashioned, natural way. A hen's time is not so valuable as that of the person who will necessarily be obliged person who will necessarily be oblig to give incubator-hatched chicks a go deal of care.

What Dr. Lemon Will Do. [New York Herald.]

[New York Herald.]
Do you want to know the name of one of the best all-around household doctors, and certainly the cheapest, that can be found in any country?

It is Dr. Lemon. Yes, an ordinary, sour, yellow lemon, which you can buy at any grocery for a few cents.

Here are some of the things Dr. Lemon will do for you if you give him the chance:

Lemon will do for you if you give him the chance:
Squeeze him into a glass of water every morning and drink him with very little sugar. He will keep your stomach in the best of order and never let Mr. Dyspepsia, whom he hates cordially, get into it.

If you have dark hair and it seems to into it.

If you have dark hair and it seems to be falling out, cut off a slice of the doctor and rub him on your scalp. He will stop that little trouble promptly.

Squeeze him into a quart of milk and he will give you a mixture to rub on your face night and morning and get a complexion like a princess.

Pour him into an equal quantity of glycerine and rub your hands with the mixture before going to bed. If you don't mind sleeping with gloves on that is better still, and helps the doctor considerably in his task of whitening your hands. In the morning wash your hands thoroughly with warm water and apply the doctor again pure, but only a few drops of him this time. You must not keep this up too long or your hands will show such a dazzling whiteness as to make all the other young ladies in the vicinity jealous.

If you have a bad headache cut Dr. Lemon into slices and rub these along your temples.

Lemon into slices and rub these along your temples. The pain will not be long disappearing—or at least in growing assier to bear.

If a bee or an insect stings you clap a few drops of the doctor onto the spot and you will find yourself the better for it.

If you have a troublesome corn the doctor can again be put to good account by rubbing him on the toe after you have taken a hot bath and cut away as much as possible of the troublesome intruder.

Besides all this the doctor is always ready to sacrifice himself in the cause of Russian tea—slice him in without sugar—or in the preparation of old-fashioned lemonade, than which no drink is more wholesome.

Altogether Dr. Lemon is an individual few people can afford to get along without.

Litho-carbon, a New Mineral

Litho-carbon, a New Mineral. [Aluminum Age.]

Litho-carbon, heretofore unknown to geologists, has just been discovered near Summerset, Ky. It is of a brown color, spongy or rather clayey in consistency. It has no taste and no odor. Samples of this new mineral were examined by chemical experts, and none could tell what it actually was. It completely resisted the action of acids, heat, alkalies and water, until benzine had the desired effect of benzine had the desired effect of separating the material into two parts, one of a brilliant black color and the other white, which had the consistency of molasses. Now, as to the uses to which litho-carbon can be applied. It has been proved that it will make the most proved that it will make the most perfect insulator known. The Newport Aluminum Age has a certified statement from Prof. Hamilton, the electrician of the Western Electrical Company, saying that under the most exhaustive tests a wire having a covering of this litho-carbon revealed a resistance of over 7000 megohms per mile. You can take the simple naked wire and soak it in a liquid made from litho-carbon until the wire is merely covered with a film, and it will then stand proof against 900° Fahrenheit, and besides this the thinnest film insures perfect insulation. The film insures perfect insulation. The litho-carbon may also be used as a paint that will resist the action of the heat, salt air, salt or fresh water, or gases of any kind, and can also be used as a varnish with the same result.

The new material will soften under the influence of enormous heat, but it cannot take fire and burn. It can be rolled into a tissue or large leaves and be used in the manufacture of goods that are entirely waterproof, and for this purpose is especially desirable be cause it is odorless.

Dealing With a Maniae

Deating With a Maniae.

[San Francisco Argonaut.]
One day as the Duke of Wellington sat writing at his library table quite alone his door was suddenly opened without a knock or announcement of any sort, and in stalked a gaunt man, who stood before the Commander-in Chief with his hat on and a savage expression of countenance. The Duke was of course a little annoyed at such an unceremonious interruption, and, looking of course a fittle annoyed as uch at the ceremonious interruption, and, looking up, he asked: "Who are you?" "I am Dionysius," was the singular answer. "Well, what do you want?" "Your life." "My life?" "Yes; I am sent to kill you." "Yery odd," said the Duke, sitting back and calmly gazing at the intruder. "Not at all, for I am Dionysius," said the stranger, "and I must put you to death." "Are you obliged to perform this duty today?" asked the Commander-in-Chief; "I am very busy just now, and have a large number of letters to write. It would be very inconvenient today." The visitor looked hard during a moment's pause. "Call again," continued the Duke, "or write and make an appointment." "You'll be ready!" "Without fail," was the reply. The maniac, awed, doubt-"Who are you?" the reply. The maniac, awed, doubt-less, by the stern old soldier, backed out of the room without further words, and half an hour later was safe in Bedlam.

"Never known to touch it except as you see him now—only in unbroken packages."

The inquirer was a prohibitionist. Here was the man he had been looking for—a perfect specimen of physical health, handling beer every day, going in and out of saloons and yet never drinking the beverage. He desired to make the acquaintance of this man.

"This gentleman," said the prohibitionist to the driver, "says you never drink beer. Is that so?"

"Yes, that's so; not a drop of beer for me." A long pause. "I always take whisky."

THE SUPERVISORS.

Another Day Devoted to Saloon Licenses.

Applicants and Protestants Again on Hand in Force.

Charges of Fraud Freely Indulged in on Both Sides.

Names Signed to the Protests With Authority—A Bomb Exploded in the Ranks of the Prohibitionists.

The hearing of protests against cer-tain applications for saloon licenses in various parts of the county was resumed by the Board of Supervisors yesterday morning and occupied their attention all day. Both the applicants and prohibitionists were on hand in large num-bers, the latter element being the more strongly represented of the two numer

The proceedings commenced with the issuance of licenses to the following applicants, against whose petitions there were no protests:

G. E. Smith, San Gabriel; F. B. Weis Downey; David Antunez, Calabases; B. Elisalde & Co., Ivy Station; John Kaus, Vernon district; B. Rosin, Avalon; H. Ducas, Vernon; J. J. Maltas, Wilming-

Ducas, Vernon; J. J. Maltas, Wilmington; Domindque Lassere, San Gabriel; T. J. Barker, Vernon; Alejo Rendon, Ranchito; Pedro Lassos, Spadra.

The application of Benjamin M. Hall of El Monte was then taken up, and Attorney Gage, who appeared for the Liquor Dealers' Association, stated that although there had been a protest against this petition a sufficient number of the protestants had withdrawn therefrom to entitle the applicant to his license.

Justice rush remarked that so far as the people from that district, whom he represented, were concerned they had withdrawn their opposition to Hall's represented, were concerned they had application.

In spite of this very plain statement, however, some of the members of the board failed to see their way to the issuance of the license, Supervisor Davis remarking that it would be very undignified on the part of the board to allow parties to withdraw after the matter had come up for hearing. Attorney Gage replied that he could not see how it conflicted with the dignity of the board. As a matter of law unless two-thirds of the qualified electors of any precinct signed a protest the applicant was entitled to his license, and if the board refused him one he could go on in spite of the board and run his saloon. That was the position he took. The in spite of the board and run his saloon. That was the position he took. The board had made no rule as to the filing of these withdrawals, nor could they have been filed for obvious reasons.

Attorney Anderson insisted that parties having attached their signatures to a protest ought not to be allowed to withdraw therefrom afterwards.

Attorney Gaze, however, retorted

Attorney Gage, however, retorted that when, as had been shown on Tues day, some of the protests were fraudu-lent, his clients were entitled to show that many of the protestants had signed the documents under the belief signed the documents under the belief that they were something else, and their withdrawals ought to be allowed. Attorney Anderson replied warmly that in the absence of the parties concerned on Tuesday Mr. Gage had denounced a certain document as fraudulent. He had no means of explaining the matter at that time, but relied upon Mr. Gage's word. Gage's word.

Mr. Gage's word.

Attorney Gage replied with equal warmth that the gentleman had not relied upon his word at all. He had constantly said that he knew nothing of the facts, but made statements based upon the records.

After some further debate Deputy District Attorney Marble suggested that the board had already decided this question on Tuesday by the adoption of a resolution.

Attorney Gage then asked leave to file all withdrawals in his hands with the board, provided he could prove that they were there on Tuesday. The protestants had had time in which to circulate their documents, and in common the part of his clients to meet

After the attorneys had argued the matter pro and con at some length At-torney Gage again renewed his demand for leave to file such withdrawals or other evidence as he saw fit to offer on behalf of the applicants then and there In one case, he added, a man's name was a protest which he himself never signed.

Supervisor Forrester remarked that such evidence as that would be admissable at any time, and Attorney Anderson stated that he would offer no objection to anything like that, as he was averse to being connected with such wastices.

Supervisor Hubbard said that he knew Supervisor Hubbard said that he knew of a great many people who had signed protests not knowing what they were at the time. The question as to whether or not the board should consider the withdrawals was then taken up again, and Supervisor Davis offered a resolution to the Machine to the again. tion to the effect that all withdrawals must be in writing and filed with the clerk before the application they re-ferred to was heard by the board, which ferred to was heard by the board, which gave rise to another animated debate. After the matter had apparently been settled Attorney Gage read the withdrawals from the protest against Hall's application, when Supervisor Forrester suggested that the board had better decide whether or not those withdrawals which had been filed on Tuesday be admitted.

Attorney Gage lost patience at this stage of the proceedings and remarked warmly that he did not want to be made a fool of and humbugged. If the board did not intend to admit these withdrawals he objected to being called upon to read them before they were ruled out. read them before they were ruled out. Chairman Perry suggested that in order to settle the matter the appli-cants be allowed to file all withdrawals order to settle the matter the applicants be allowed to file all withdrawals they had. Supervisor Hubbard said that he had made that motion some time before, but no one had seconded it, but Supervisor Forrester said the board could not do it. The result was that the members of the board became involved in an argument on their own account which waxed very warm, until hually Chairman Perry pulled out his watch and said: "Well, let's adjourn, if we can't do anything else."

Finally the matter of the withdrawals was dragged up again by Supervisor correster, who suggested that the whole batch be filed. Supervisor Davis insisted upon the adoption of his resolution first, with the understanding that these withdrawals already presented be admitted. Supervisor Hubbard would not have it that way, but it was finally voted over his head.

At this juncture Attorney Gage said that before the board adjourned he desired to examine a gentleman from Vernon, who was anxious to get back, and somewhat of a sensation was caused as a tall man stepped out of the growd and advanced toward the clerk to be sworn. The board having decided to hear the newcomer's testimony before going to lunch, Attorney Gage questioned him, and he testified that his name was Fred Storm, that he lived in the Vernon district. He was shown a provest agrust the granting of licenses to H. Pierr ni and M. Carrizosa, of Vernon, and desied that the signature of Fred Storm was attached thereto by him.

In response to Attorney Anderson's questions the witness denied that he authorized any one to sign his name. He had not even heard of the protest until Tuesday night. He then wrote his signature on a piece of paper for the ben-nature on a piece of paper for the ben-fit of the attorney, who compared it carefully with that on the petition, but there was a marked difference between Supervisor Davis remarked sternly that if that kind of work was going on the board wanted to know it, and Attorney Anderson said that he was equally anxious to show it up. He had been informed that the man who circulated the protest referred to could be communicated with and brought before the municated with and brought before the board after lunch, and if possible he would have him there. Attorney Gage looked triumphant, but said nothing.

AFTERNOON SESSION. When the board convened in the afternoon the effect of the bomb exploded by the applicant's counsel was very apby the applicant's counsel was very apparent in the ranks of the prohibitionists, and it was evident that the board was somewhat impressed by the matter also, for, after a caucus in the committee room, the board, upon motion of Supervisor Davis, directed the District Attorney to draw up an amendment to sections 16 and 17 of the ordinance, so that the clause with reference to the tions 16 and 17 or the ordinance, so that the clause with reference to the "two-thirds protest" be withdrawn, and another substituted therefor to the effect that the board would consider only those protests which were made upon personal grounds, and reserved the right to reject all applications made by improper persons.

The prohibitionists offered some remonstrance to this, but the board determined not to treat the matter in the light of a prohibitory measure, and the objectionists finally fell back defeated.

objectionists finally fell back defeated. The following applications were then taken up, and, a sufficient number having withdrawn from the protest thereto to invalidate them, licenses were issued: Michael Faber, El Monte; Frank Jascen, Lordsburg; M. Carrizosa, Vernondale; Conrad Winter, East Los Angeles, and H. Pierroni, Vernon.

Upon motion of Supervisor Davis the hearing of all cases where the protests were good and sufficient was deferred until Saturday afternoon next, and, as were good and sufficient was deferred until Saturday afternoon next, and. as this disposed of all the applications that were left, the board adjourned.

The A. O. U. W. Entertainment and Hop— Two Weddings. In spite of the sudden and unusually neavy rain, the entertainment and hop given by the A.O.U.W. Ladies Auxiliar on Tuesday evening was a successful and pleasant affair. The attendance was as large as space and comfortable dancing would permit and every one enjoyed themselves. Mayor Hazard was present during the evening and joined in the general hilarity in his usual whole-hearted manner. A pleas-ing feature of the evening's entertain-ment were some Spanish tamborine and

There were a couple of weddings on the East Side Tuesday, one taking place at Charles Neal's place on Pasadena avenue. Rev. J. H. Phillips there united in matrimony Thomas J. Mooney and Miss Fannle B. Blanford, the former well known in East Los Angeles, while the latter has resided on Thirtieth street. The happy couple will make their home temporarily with the groom's brother, J. J. Mooney, and his wife on Downey avenue, but will set up house-keeping soon. The other marriage was that of C. W. Maly and Amy Dessau, who, in a business-like manner, secured a house, fitted it up, and when all was in readiness sent out for a parson, had the knot tied, and so were fully "domesticated," from the start the knot tied, and so were fully "domes

Why a Man Refused to Pay for a Load of Hay.

Rather a singular case was tried in Justice Austin's court yesterday. A few days ago a man named A. Grant met S. T. Yokley on the street and asked him to deliver a load of hay at his house. The price was agreed upon and in due time Yokley delivered the hay, but Grant was not at home at the time, and his brother-in-law, H. Horton, re-ceived the hay, but failed to pay for it.

Yokley presented his bill several times, but was not paid, so he brought suit.

Both sides appeared without attorneys yesterday, and the court and spectators who were present enjoyed any amount of fun. When Grant's time came to testify he admitted everything, but samed to have an idea that in but seemed to have an idea that in that he did not receive the hay person-ally he could not be held responsible for it, and should not be made to pay

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL,

OFFICE OF THE TO Los Angeles, March 2, 1892.

The market showed few changes today and commission men generally reported rather a quiet tone in trade. This, of course, is largely due to the heavy rainstorm and consequent bad condition of the country roads, preventing, to a considerable extent, arrivals of produce.

The market for eggs continued weak today, the usual Lenten demand apparently not having begun.

Butter is in liberal supply, but prices are unchanged.

Stocks of grain in California call board warehouses on March aggregate 76,000 tons, as against 100,000 January.

The poultry market, which has held very steady for a fortnight or more, shows no change, prices being rather high.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—[Special to TRE TIMES.] The vegetable market was without any new feature. Supplies of potatoes and onions are greatly in excess of the requirements and prices are weaker. Green vegetables are coming in quite freely and are in fair demand at lower prices.

The market for dairy produce was quiet.

Prices for eggs, despite the advent of the The market for dairy produce was quiet. Prices for eggs, despite the advent of the Lenten season, when an increased demand could be reasonably expected, have a further downward tendency. Butter is in ample supply and weak.

The fruit market was unchanged today. Oranges are in big supply and of inferior quality. Apples are plentiful, excepting choice red varieties and good green cook-

RAND, McNALLY & CO.'S

ONE-VOLUME

... and GAZETTEER!

A Condensation of the Encyclopedia Britannica, Chambers's Encyclopedia, etc., with the addition of much original matter treating of AMERICAN SUBJECTS.

Illustrated with eighty full-page colored maps and nearly two thousand engravings. :

SUMMARY :

EVER before has there been offered to the public a book of reference approaching this in completeness, compactness, or cheapness. It contains 720 pages of encyclopedic information concerning all branches of knowledge, comprising, in a condensed form, stripped of unnecessary verbiage, the very cream of the Encyclopedia Britannica and the latest edition of Chambers's Encyclopedia, with the addition of a great many American subjects found in neither of the larger encyclopedias.

Besides being a comprehensive gazetteer of universal knowledge, it is also a complete Atlas of the World, containing eighty full-page maps. Some idea may be gained of the magnitude of this wonderful work and the vast number of subjects treated of, from the following table:

Number of Pages.	Size of Page.	Total Number of Pages.	Number of Words.	Number of Subjects.	Total Length of Columns, Inches.	Number of Words for One Cent.
720	73/4×10	200,800	1,700,000	18,000	21,600	3,500

If the columns were placed end to end they would reach over one-third of a mile, think of 1800 feet of choice reading, compiled from the latest sources, on 18,000 subset daily interest to everybody, for a sum per word that requires ave figures to exist the fraction, and 80 Full-Page Maps, Free, the whole forming the largest, latest, and most complete Family Cyclopedia ever produced. The maps are corrected to date and beautifully colored by the publishers' celebrated pattern plate process to distinguish States and political boundaries. The type is new and clear, the paper rood and firm.

The oredinary price of an atlas alone, containing these maps, would be at least as much as the reast price of this entire book, of which they form but a single feature.

The volume is issued in two styles: Handsomely bound in cloth, with gold title, and side stamp, $8.00. Elegantly bound in half Russia, with gold title, and side stamp, $10,00.

This Splendid Book, Indispensable to everybody—the student, the teacher, the scholar, the writer, the business man, and the intelligent citizen—will be sent, together with one year's subscription to the SATURDAY TIMES AND WHEKLY MIRROR, for the unprecedentedly low price of $3.301 Or. it will be furnished with the Daily Times one year, all for $11.95.

The danger of war with Chile is past. East Whittier lands are selling fast; Secure your ten ere it is too late, Or by and by you'll bemoan your fate.

UT, wiping the tears from your eyes when your chances are all gone, will do no good, and the wise man who bought in time will have little sympathy for you then. So avoid such a contingency, come to East Whittier; buy while good chances are to be had. A great many acres will be set out in trees on the tract this season, and improvements are going merrily on. We are offering the lands very cheap now on the start; they will be higher soon. Such lands at Redlands or Riverside are bringing $400 to $600 per acre, simply because they have a start, though it is pretty hot there in the summer time. But at East Whittler you can get the sea breeze every day; no need to go to the beach to keep cool, but if you want to take a dip you can drive over to Long Beach in less than two hours. There are few such locations in Southern California.

So come along quick and you can take your pick in the choicest lot of land in all the country sid Dr. Jessup with his gig, or Reed with his horse Nig,
Will show you the tract and give you a free ride.

You can come to Sante Fe Springs at 8:30 on the Senta Fe, and get back to Los Angeles at 1:20. Drop a line to Dr. JESSUP, at Whittier, a day or two ahead and he will meet you at the train. Write him for full particulars, or to
